SUMMARY.

Germany has replied to President Wilson, asking for an armistice in the name of the German people.

Copenhagen messages say Germany awaits armistice proposals for a peace of justice, as laid down in President Wilson's principles.

The reply to President Wilson points out the changes that have been made in the German Constitution.

Peace negotiations, it is added, will be conducted by the people's Government, to which the military powers are subject.

Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. Balfour, accompanied by naval and military officers, have proceeded to France.

It is stated the Reichstag has, by a large majority, passed a bill placing the military command under the Government's control.

English newspapers, commenting on the Reichstag debate, remark upon the notable change in the tone of the principal speakers.

Amsterdam advices state that there is an ever-growing demand in Germany for the Emperor's abdication.

Many German submarines flying the white flag have passed the Norwegian coast southward, apparently obeying the recall order.

The conclusion of a separate peace between the Entente and different nationalities in Austria-Hungary is thought to be near.

A Zurich message says that the Magyar National Council in Budapest has proclaimed its supremacy to existing authorities.

Reports have also reached Zurich that the revolutionary movement is spreading in Croatia, and assuming Bolshevik characteristics.

The British have advanced slightly north of the Scheldt, and along the high ground north of the Courtrai Canal.

The French are continuing their advance south of the Oise up the Peron Valley.

The French have captured Courjumelles, Mont d'Cerigny, and Mont Origny St. Benotte, all important positions.

Correspondents, telegraphing from the French front, say a gigantic battle continues with the utmost desperation.

General Guilliamat's force continues its drive against the enemy, and is pounding the positions protecting the German centre.

Attacks by the enemy on the British positions north of Le Quesnoy and Englefontaine were repulsed.

The French captured 3650 prisoners, including 51 officers, between Simonne and Chateau Porcien on Friday and Saturday.

The "New York Times" says the American First Army has inflicted on the Germans 70,000 casualties, including 20,000 prisoners.

The British forces operating in Mesopotamia continue to pursue the Turks on both sides of the Tigris.

A British official message from Syria reports that Aleppo has been occupied after slight opposition.

The Italian offensive is going well. Several important objectives have been captured.

The Italians are advancing eastward of the Piave, in touch with the British, who have captured Tezze and Borgo Malanotti.

It is expected Austria's internal troubles will have a marked effect on the Italian, Albanian, and Danube fronts.

Vienna advices state it is publicly announced that preparations are being made to demobilise the Austro-Hungarian army.

The Seventh War Loan was oversubscribed, the contributions amounting to £41,219,610.

It is expected that this sum will be added to by at least a million by the money in transmission.

The contributions from New South Wales totalled £15,049,765, and from Victoria £13,714,975.

Queensland contributed £5,582,370; South Australia, £4,146,910; Western Australia, £1,496,675; and Tasmania, £1,228,835.

Mr. Watt stated last evening that he considered the result remarkably good.

Though there was no need for compulsion at present the bill would be passed for future loans, he said.

Honour flags were won by 776 country centres in New South Wales, and 25 centres in the metropolitan area.

At Roseville £102,200 was subscribed, and Hunter's Hill obtained £60,210 over its quota.

Newcastle and suburbs, and the shire of Lake Macquarie, reached their quota of £475,000, with more money still to come.

The Governor presided at the annual meeting of the Brotherhood of the Good Shepherd last night.

The Bishop of Goulburn and the Bishop of North Queensland spoke of various phases of the brotherhood's work.

Anxiety is felt for the safety of the schooner Handa Isle, 30 days out on a voyage from Sydney to Melbourne.

The vessel has not been sighted off any of the intervening coastal headland stations.

The Handa Isle was under the command of Captain W. B. Taylor, and was manned by a crew of ten.

It is expected that Mr. Holman will relinquish the portfolio of Treasurer this week.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, the Assistant Treasurer, will then undertake the full responsibilities of the department.

The Melbourne City Council has carried a motion insisting that Germany indemnify Australia for her loss in blood and treasure.

The sum of £400,000,000 was suggested as the amount of the German indemnity to Australia.

The council of the National Association has congratulated the Government on the steps taken to deal with the meat question.

It urges the Government to continue its efforts, provided a scheme could be evolved that would not injure the producer.

All the midshipmen who left the Naval College at Jervis Bay in December, 1916, have passed their seamanship examinations.

The address of counsel for the Crown, Mr. Shand, K.C., in the I.W.W. case, commenced yesterday.

The Industrial Full Court yesterday determined that £3 per week should constitute the minimum wage in all future awards.

In New South Wales last week 493 recruits were accepted out of 735 volunteers.

The total deaths of members of the New Zealand expeditionary forces to October 14 were 15,051, including 689 officers.

There is an agitation for higher rates of pay for the police. The present minimum is 9/6 per day.

New fares and freights on the railways and tramways are to come into operation next Friday.

Mr. Beeby, at a complimentary luncheon yesterday, spoke on post-war problems.

The four influenza patients in quarantine from the Niagara are reported to be progressing favourably.

It is expected that the passengers, with the exception of the patients, will be released on Friday.

Two more deaths from influenza have been reported from the Auckland Hospital.

The Assistant Treasurer (Mr. Fitzpatrick) states that it is intended to bring the Superannuation Act into force next year.

The inquiry into the question of house rents was continued yesterday by the Interstate Commission.

Another hot day was experienced yesterday. At Brisbane the temperature was 100 degrees.

A very quiet but steady market prevailed for investment scrip on the Stock Exchange yesterday.

Quotations for eggs advanced slightly yesterday. Ample supplies of butter were available.

The market for sheep at Homebush yesterday was in sellers' favour, odd sales showing a rise of a shilling.

Competition for cattle was buoyant, and the market generally was from 15/ to 20/ dearer than on last sale day.

Forecast.—Some scattered showers in south-east districts, including the coast, and isolated thunder in the north-east quarter. Otherwise fine and temporarily cooler, with squally west to south-west winds, strong in the south-east corner, but tending northerly inland.

THE HOUSE OF DISTINCTION.

"EVENTFUL" NECKWEAR
MAKES A BOLD SHOWING AT FARMER'S THIS WEEK.

Woman's toilette is never done. Just as we prepare to accept a certain silhouette, a certain vogue in Neckwear, say, or other such accessory, along comes something new. The really smart Fronts and Neckwear showing at Farmers' this week have been termed "Eventful," for, though a woman's appearance may be very chic and smart withal, the costume or suit is itself perhaps an uneventful affair, main interest and excitement centreing in the collar and front.

SHE WHO MUST BE DISTINCTIVE OR PERISH, AS THE FRENCH WOULD SAY, MAY WELL TAKE REFUGE IN THESE VERY CHIC EXAMPLES.

WHITE MUSLIN CROSSOVER FRONT, trimmed with Val. insertion and lace, with dainty roll collar attached. PRICE, 5/11.
LATEST IN COLOURED MUSLIN WAISTCOATS, with cuffs to match. PRICE .... 7/11 per set.
SMART WHITE PIQUE WAISTCOAT, complete with very smart roll collar of newest designs. PRICE 11/6
IVORY OR PARIS CROSSOVER FRONT, with small roll collar attached, trimmed with imitation Filet insertion and lace. PRICE 15/6
CHOICE GEORGETTE FRONTS, with long roll collar, in a number of beautiful designs, trimmed with real Filet insertion and lace. PRICES .... 35/ to 45/
Neckwear Dept., Ground Floor, Pitt-street.

FARMER'S CONCUR WITH THE FASHION DECISION THAT

VEILS SHALL BE FANCY OR PLAIN TO SUIT THE WEARER'S DESIRES.

Though but four examples are quoted here, it is quite evident that every desire regarding Veils that are seasonable can be granted at Farmer's, for these few alone include the smartly plain with coloured edge, others with neat scroll and border designs, and yet others in the favourite spotted effects. Prices are particularly keen in every instance.

FANCY SHETLAND VEILS, with beautiful scroll design in Black, Mole, and Navy. PRICE .... 2/3 each
SMALL HEXAGON MESH NET VEILS, featuring neat Chenille borders. In Black only. PRICE .... 2/3 each
FINE HEXAGON MESH NET VEILS, with Chenille border and spot in Black only. PRICE .... 2/11 each
PLAIN SHETLAND VEILS, with smart coloured borders; in Navy with Emerald, Champagne and Brown, Violet and Black, Helio. and Purple, Grey and Mole, Saxe and Blue, and White and Black. PRICE .... 2/11 each Veiling Dept., Ground Floor, Pitt-street.

VAL. LACES AND INSERTIONS
will have many artistic possibilities in this season's fashion wear and under-apparel.

The industrious needleworker loses no opportunity of beautifying her self-made clothes, and lace—Val. lace—plays an important part. At Farmer's, scores of dainty designs are obtainable. In many ranges the same pattern is traceable in every size, right from the tiny lace of half an inch to the very much wider sizes.

WHITE FRENCH WIRE GROUND VAL. INSERTION, ½-inch wide. PRICE .. 4/11 doz.
Lace to match, ½-inch wide .... 4/11 doz.
INSERTION, ¾-inch wide .... 6/3 doz.
Lace to match, ¾-inch wide .... 7/6 doz.
INSERTION, ⅞-inch wide .... 7/6 doz.
Lace to match, ⅞-inch wide .... 7/6 doz.
INSERTION, ⅞-inch wide .... 8/6 doz.
Lace to match, ⅞-inch wide .... 8/6 doz.
INSERTION, 1 inch wide .... 10½d yd.
Lace to match, 1-inch wide .... 10½d yd.
INSERTION, 1¼-inch wide .... 11½d yd.
Lace to match, 1¼-inch wide .... 11½d yd.

OCTOBER ON THE FARM.

CROPS TO SOW NOW.

Among the main items that the Farmer should favourably consider as a means for providing Winter feed and ensilage for his stock, the following are recommended:—

TO SOW NOW—

90-DAY MAIZE, 8/6 bus.
This Maize matures seed fairly early, and although not such a heavy cropper as some of the specially-chosen seed varieties, still the grain is useful.

PLANTER'S FRIEND, 4d per lb, 40/ cwt.
EARLY AMBER CANE, 5d per lb, 40/ cwt.
HUNGARIAN MILLET, 4d per lb, 28/ cwt.
JAPANESE MILLET, 4d per lb, 25/ cwt.
SUDAN GRASS, 1/ per lb.

I DO not ask you to take any statement of mine unsupported. I am willing to give absolute guarantees in connection with all my work. I am anxious to do more than this. If you feel the least sceptical about the complete efficacy of all my treatments, please visit my waiting-room and converse with actual patients who have first-hand knowledge of my methods. The verdict of these people will be quite convincing to you. I have an apparatus—by means of which I can drill and fill sensitive teeth without causing you any pain. My method of PAINLESS EXTRACTIONS is acknowledged far and wide as being all I claim for it. Many dentists and doctors send me their difficult extractions, and several have brought me their wives

GROWING GIRLS SHOULD USE HEAN'S TONIC NERVE NUTS.

BECAUSE THEY ENRICH THE BLOOD AND STRENGTHEN THE WHOLE SYSTEM.

Growing girls should have special attention given to their health to see that they do not become anaemic, listless, bundles of nerves. It is essential that their blood should be well purified by healthy functioning of the internal organs, and it is also imperative that their systems should be well fortified with oxygen and iron. They may then be relied upon to develop into normal robust womanhood, well equipped with vital energy, and able to enjoy life to the fullest measure. Plenty of outdoor, rational exercise, and the taking of Hean's Tonic Nerve Nuts to assist proper action of the liver, kidneys, and digestive organs, and to purify and enrich the blood and nourish the nerves, cannot be too strongly urged. Hean's Tonic Nerve Nuts, besides being effective health and strength builders, are much more economical than liquid tonics. Boxes containing 12 days' supply cost only 2/, or six boxes for 17/3. Small boxes containing six days' supply cost 2/. If your chemist or store does not stock Hean's Tonic Nerve Nuts, you may obtain them by post direct from the manufacturer, G. W. Hean, Chemist, 178 Castlereagh-street, Sydney.

"RED FEATHER" CHEESE

FINE FOR LUNCH.

The daintiness, special food value, and pleasing satisfying flavour of "Red Feather" Cheese delight all who take their lunches from home.

Housewives appreciate it, because it can be put to so many uses, and when used in cookery, "Red Feather" gives a delightful zest to the various dishes such as:—

"RED FEATHER" CHEESE STRAWS.

Ingredients: 4 tablespoonfuls flour, 1 rounded tablespoonful "Red Feather" Cheese, 1 level tablespoonful butter, good sprinkle salt and cayenne, yolk of 1 egg, lemon juice.

Method: Mix Flour, Salt, and Cayenne, rub lightly into it the butter and cheese (make in a cool place and use only the tips of the fingers; if rubbed with the palms of the hand it becomes hot and cloggy), beat yolk of egg and lemon juice together, pour in, and mix to a stiff paste. Roll out 1-8 of an inch thick, cut into strips 4 inches long and 1-8 inch wide, roll out remains of paste, stamp into rounds with plain cutter, 1½ inch in diameter, cut out middle with smaller cutter, leaving a ring. Bake in a moderate oven till pale fawn colour, and crisp; when done leave on oven sheet till cold. To serve, fill each ring with a bundle of straws, and arrange tastefully on a dish paper.

SEND US A SHILLING'S WORTH OF HAM, said the customer, "and if my wife isn't at home get the boy to put it through the keyhole." A shilling won't go nearly as far nowadays as it used to, and consequently a shilling saved is a boon to any housewife. By always using

"REX"

LUNCHEON CHEESE

you save quite a lot on your butter bill, for "Rex" Cheese, on plain bread or biscuits is relished by the most fastidious.

The richest dairying district of Australia is the home of the "Rex" factory, where this perfectly matured, full cream cheese is made.

At any hour of the day a sandwich of "Rex" Cheese is always welcomed with delight.

Its creamy consistency makes it easy to spread and thus eliminates waste.

FARMER'S,

SYDNEY.
1840-1918.
Seventy-eight Years.

THESE 52/6 VOILE FROCKS AT FARMER'S ARE CERTAINLY CHARMING AND WILL WASH WELL, and there perhaps you have the kernel of this Voile Frock Week at Farmer's, apart from, of course, the fact that the Frocks are fashioned of the most reliable Voile and show all Fashion's latest idiosyncrasies. Reviewing these Frocks from another angle of usefulness, one is confronted with the fact that from now on during the hot months of summer a light, cool Voile Frock—such as in this selling—will be easily the most useful member of one's wardrobe. Here, then, it is clearly one's duty to at least inspect these Frocks as they are displayed in the windows and Salons. You will not be pressed to buy, except perhaps by the mute but strong appeal of the price tickets, which are

UNIFORMLY MARKED AT 52/6,
UNIFORMLY MARKED AT 52/6,
UNIFORMLY MARKED AT 52/6,

and which is certainly very little for such a Frock as:—

A DAINTY VOILE FROCK, in a combination of small check and plain Voiles. The skirt of this frock is pleated back and front with side panels edged self voile and buttons. The bodice is blouse-like, with a deep sailor collar, and sash has tie ends in self shade. PRICE 52/6

A GOOD COMBINATION VOILE. One style is designed with deep square collar, having square neck in front. From yoke in front bodice is set with knife pleats, whilst waist is neatly arranged with belt, which is folded at back. A pleated simulated tunic skirt completes the dress. In a good range of shades. PRICE 52/6

SMART FROCK, in self-coloured Voiles, designed with pretty collar, which is square at back, under which are two sets of knife pleats. The cuffs and collar are trimmed with rouleaux of self voile—bodice trimmed with hand-worked faggot stitching and the waist completed with black velvet belt. Skirt softly gathered. In a splendid range of colours. PRICE 52/6

THIS IS DAY TWO AT FARMER'S OF SILK CONCESSION WEEK,

so that there is interest and to spare—in your shopping at Farmer's To-day. Silk Concession Week brings those Silks of Farmer's—"of whose true fixed and resting quality there is no fellow in the firmament"—at prices which are so lessened as to enable even the most modest purse to purchase. To-day's listed items from the Silk Section include Floral Satins, on which one may save 4/6 per yard; Crepe Mousseline at 4/6 per yard cheaper than usual, these two being the fine Silks of Fair France, whilst the Eastern section is represented by Striped Kabe Crepes, Floral Tussorettes, Spotted and Fancy Sakusans.

FLORAL SATINS, this is one of the smartest silks we have opened this season; being light and cool it is greatly in demand for coat linings and evening wraps, and is also greatly used as a trimming, in shades of Light and Dark Brown, Grey, Wine, and Turquoise, with large vari-coloured flowers and designs. 40 inches wide. Usual Price, 25/6. CONCESSION PRICE .... 21/.

CREPE MOUSSELINE, one of the latest French Silks, for costumes, gowns, coats, or dresses. It is beautifully light and soft and the draping effect of this fabric is excellent; it is similar in texture to a heavy weight Crepe de Chine, in shades of Powder Blue, Putty, Grey, Navy, Sky, Saxe, and V. Rose. Width 40 inches. Usual Price, 29/6.
CONCESSION PRICE .... 25/.

STRIPED KABE SILK CREPE, a splendid washing silk, for blouses, costumes, or trimmings, in stripes of various widths and colourings, also two-toned effects, 31 inches wide. Usual Price, 8/6 yard.
CONCESSION PRICE .... 7/11.

FLORAL TUSSORETTE, this is a beautiful light and soft material, with very smart floral designs. A most useful fabric for ladies' dresses and blouses; also very rich in appearance. Usual Price, 6/6.
CONCESSION PRICE .... 5/11.

SPOTTED SAKUSAN, a beautiful spot silk, in Tussore ground with coloured spots of Emerald, Purple, Pink, Black, and Sky, an excellent silk for trimmings, in conjunction with plain tussore, 32in wide. Usually 7/6. CONCESSION PRICE, 6/11 yd.

FANCY SAKUSAN, in Tussore ground, with large conventional and vari-coloured spots and diamonds, very smart when used as a trimming in conjunction with Assam or Tussore Silk. 34 inches wide. Usual Price, 6/11. CONCESSION PRICE .... 4/6 yd.

AND BEFORE WE FORGET

LAST MAIL FOR ABROAD CLOSES TO-MORROW, AT 10 A.M.

Your safest plan, if you have still to post your Xmas wishes to home folk in the shape of a Calendar, Xmas Card, etc., is to come at once this morning to Farmer's Stationery Section, where you will find all the cards you require. Australian subjects predominate, as is right, and you will be pleased with the selection offered in the reproduction of our own Native Birds, Flowers, and the like.

PRICES BEGIN AS LOW AS 4d EACH.
Stationery Dept., Ground Floor, George-street.

TWO CAPES AT FARMER'S,

STEPPING STRICTLY WITH FASHION,

and whose manifold Fashion Virtues are apparent even from the first quick glance. Coming in on the top of Fashion's wave at the beginning of this present season, "they have never—in the language of the successful self-made man—looked back." There is every reason for this, of course, for these new Capes at Farmer's have all the "Militaire Swagger" which has a double appeal to-day, when one's brother or friend is in the army and is as quite likely wearing such a cape whilst furloughing among Scotch mists.

The first of these Capes is DEVELOPED IN ASSAM SILK, and its large collar is smartly inlaid with Fancy Silk. It is worn flowing from the shoulders, being held in position by the Militaire crossover front straps which fasten at the back. This is a very smart cape and a very keenly priced one, too, at 84/.

The Second is a TAILORED CAPE IN CREAM GABARDINE, with large collar pointed on shoulder and finished with two-inch band of Black and White striped Silk, fastening with straps from shoulders crossway over the front and tying at back of waist.
PRICE .... 47/7/.

have that extra lift of smartness which puts them in the foreground of Fashion. The Skirts hang evenly and in good fitting folds, and the materials are of a heavy quality that will give staunch service. To mention two of the many here:—

SPLENDIDLY TAILORED DUST COAT, extra quality Assam Silk, the collar being designed in the fashionable large shape, with rolled rever to the front and sailor at the back. This coat has a smart waistbelt, from which the patch pocket is suspended each side. The sleeves are also smartly inset, the cuff being finished with turn-back tab and button. PRICE ...... 79/6.

CHARMING MODEL DUST COAT, developed in Assam Silk. This design is smartly pleated at back from the high waist lines. All round belt is fastened with buckle. A very chic effect is gained by the finishing; large cape collar and cuffs of contrasting Silk. PRICE 99/6

Mantle Salon, Second Floor, Pitt-street.

GAY WITH BUCKLES OR OF STRAIGHT-LACED SIMPLICITY.

THE NEW SHOES FOR WOMEN

AT FARMER'S.

It seems only necessary to add to our heading that these Shoes for to-day's mention and wearing are all of very best quality Enamel Coltskin. To be sure the matter of their keen price is also important: this is 29/6 per pair.

Number One is a SMART ENAMEL COURT SHOE, which has been built on the new long-pointed French last, has light walking soles, smart heels, and looks the part with its gay gold chased buckle. To be had in several fittings, all at .... 29/6.

Number Two is also a COURT SHOE, which has pump soles, leather Cuban heels and boasts of its French origin in the matter of its long extended front and quaint buckle ornament. In narrow, medium, or wide fittings at .... 29/6.

Number Three is a STRAIGHT LACED OXFORD SHOE, not in the sense of staid; it is anything but that, being built on the new extended last, and finished with pump soles and leather Cuban heels. It also may be had in several fittings at .... 29/6.

HINTS AT TAKING CARE OF ONE'S FROCKS.

There is no need to hang one's Frock on a nail to the detriment of its shape when a dainty enamelled wooden Frock hanger can be purchased for as low as 10½d; then if you will allow a suggestion, one may suspend a little bag of "sweet lavender or other such" from the centre of the hanger with very good results. Other Table Values are just as helpful to-day.

LOUISE

HATS AND PARIS VANITIES.

COTTON HOSE.

PRICE 2/3 PAIR.

These are a Useful Summer Weight line in black and intended for wear beneath a thin silk stocking, and of service to people who have tender feet and appreciate this added thickness. There are only a limited number of pairs available, and shoppers should inquire to-day. For house wear these hose are also suitable, being so light and cool, and a saving of better wear in these days of strict economy.

COTTON VOILES

IN EXCELSIS.

In other words, it's a Cotton Voile Season, and the goods are entirely worthy their popularity.

Here are half a dozen
VOILES OF SUMMER STYLE,
whose many attractions are quite enough to keep you guessing as to which to buy, without looking at the further endless ranges with which our tables are piled.

A Band and Bar Stripe of smartest style, Stripes in Saxe, Brown, or Black, on the stippled White ground, 39/40 inch, at 2/11 yard.

An Artistic Floral, the large bunches at wide intervals on a White, Mole, Cream, Grey, or Ivory ground, 39/40 inch, at 3/3 yard.

A taking "Paisley" effect, in Helio., Pink, or Amethyst. 39/40 inch, at 3/6 yard.

A tremendously effective Check, very bold and impressive, in Saxe, Brown, or Biscuit, 39/40 inch, at 2/11.

A very beautiful White ground Voile, has a heavier stripe lined out with artistic shades of Pink, Saxe, Navy, or Black. 39/40 inch, 3/9 yard.

For a low-priced Floral Voile, a line we are showing in Pink, Blue, Helio., or Brown, on a stippled effect ground, will be very hard to equal, in 39/40 inch, at 1/11 yard.

GET LONGER WEAR FROM YOUR SUITS.

No use grumbling about current tailoring prices. What you should do is to take better care of your suits. Whenever yours begins to droop and show stains and creases, then is the time to pack it off to Rogers Bros.

Our cleaning process will sterilise every garment—remove all spots—revive the colour of the cloth—and altogether make your suit as smart and trim as when first you put it on.

And that good-as-new suit will cost you only a few shillings. Then why not test us with that old suit you discarded. We will soon make it fit for service again. Send it along to-day.

"CLEVER MARY"

VERY USEFUL TO HOUSEWIVES.

"Clever Mary" can be used effectively in all the general cleaning of a household—every dirty surface quickly yields its grease and grime to the penetrating qualities of this splendid cleaner.

"Clever Mary" is a handy helpmate when you are washing up. It neutralises the grease, which comes away without any hard rubbing.

For cleaning soiled painted woodwork, gas stoves, kitchen sinks, and for polishing the windows, "Clever Mary" is ideal.

If not in stock at your storekeeper's a FREE sample will be mailed you on request to The Paget Manufacturing Co., Ltd., 100 Regent-street, Sydney.

THE MAN WITHOUT A MEMORY.

BY A. W. MARCHMONT.

CHAPTER XXIX.—Continued.

The opening scene was all that could be desired. The fact that I was expected caused me to be led at once to the managing proprietor, whose name was Harden. He received me with all the respect due to my uniform; put me at ease by expressing a regret that he had never had the pleasure of seeing me before, although he had heard of my prowess in the air; and declared that he felt honoured at making my personal acquaintance.

I was condescendingly patronising, thanked him a little boastfully for his compliment, and got to business.

"You have everything ready, of course?" I asked.

"Quite. I'll have the plane run out," was the reply, as he rang his table bell and gave an order that No. 14 should be made ready for me at once. "Have you tried one of ours yet?" he asked as the clerk went out.

"I expect so, but I'm not sure. I've been up in so many."

"You've seen the specifications for the new make, of course."

"I should like to glance over them again."

"It will be an honour to explain the new improvements;" and he produced the plans and drawings, and told me all about them pointing to various differences and improvements, especially those which were his own inventions, on which he enlarged with immense self-satisfaction.

I had my own reasons for studying the drawings carefully, and condescended to flatter him on his inventive ingenuity. All this took up some time and I began to be anxious to start. I suggested that I had better have a look at No. 14; and we went out together.

She was a beauty and no mistake; but to my chagrin the men had damaged one of the planes slightly in getting her out of the hangar. Only a simple matter involving renewal of a couple of the wire supports; but it meant a loss of time, and I had an uneasy speculation as to what was happening in that hotel bedroom at Lingen.

I ordered the men to be quick about the repair, and was watching them when someone came out to tell Harden he was wanted on the telephone.

This was not on the agenda and I sensed unpleasantness. There were two other planes on the field close to No. 14, and I strolled over to see if their petrol tanks were full, under the pretence of curiosity. It was a case of any port in a storm.

There wasn't a gallon in the two, so my curiosity died instantly. I returned to hurry on the work with No. 14. The men knew their job and had all but finished it when Harden came out wearing a look of worried perplexity.

"May I beg a moment with you, Lieutenant?" he asked.

"Certainly. What is it? Nothing gone wrong I hope."

"That telephone call was from Lingen, from Captain Schiller; and I can't make head or tail of it. You will not be offended with me, I trust, if I tell you what he says—what I understood him to say, at least."

"My dear Mr. Harden, I hope I am not so foolish."

"Well, he appears to be under the impression that you are not here."

I burst out laughing. "Poor Schiller; he's always got a bee in his bonnet; keeps a regular hive always on tap. I wonder what the devil has put that rot into his head."

"From what I could gather—I trust you'll pardon me even mentioning it—he appears to think that you were too—well, that you had had more wine at the Halbermond for it to be quite safe for you to go."

I cursed Schiller, whoever he might be, volubly and sincerely, for an interfering jackass. "I think you can settle that for yourself, Harden."

"Oh yes, I told him so, but—but his reply was—was very singular. He said that you had had to be assisted into your car at Lingen, that it wasn't possible you could have thrown off the effects in the short time; and, in fact, that if you appeared to have done so, you could not be Lieutenant Vibach."

More cursing of Schiller from me. "He'll have to answer for this, I can assure you," I exclaimed fiercely. "What did you reply?"

"I explained the exceedingly awkward position in which it placed me; and he instructed me very peremptorily on no account to deliver No. 14 to you, even in face of the army order. Of course I was at a loss, so I asked him to speak to you on the telephone."

"I'd do better than that," I replied readily. "There'll be the devil to pay if I don't turn up with it and the Colonel's told I was too drunk to go up. Schiller must be mad; stark, staring mad. He'll get me cashiered."

"He's holding the line, if you will come to my office."

It was the deuce of a crisis, and how to get over it worried me. But as we neared the office a thought struck me. "Look here, Harden, this must be met somehow. I'll get Schiller to run over here at once, and we must be ready with proofs that I'm as sober as a judge and perfectly fit to take up No. 14. I understand your position entirely, and don't mean you to be compromised in any way. I won't ask you to deliver No. 14, but I shall be personally obliged if you'll have the petrol tank of one of those planes out there filled, or any other you like, of course, and I'll show him whether I'm fit to take No. 14 up. Your evidence, too, may save me from absolute shipwreck."

"I'll do it with pleasure;" and he turned back to give the orders to the mechanics while I went to the telephone in his office.

"Hullo," I called.

"That you, Harden?" came the reply in an excited tone.

"Yes." I was likely to get more information as Harden, and tried to imitate his voice.

"I didn't recognise your voice for the moment. You haven't parted with No. 14, I hope?"

"No. Lieutenant Vibach's coming to speak to you."

"That's all right. This is a thousand times more serious than I knew just now. Vibach's here."

"What?" I cried.

"It's true. I've seen him. He's been half-killed, drugged, and stripped of his uniform. He was found locked in a wardrobe of one of the Halbermond's bedrooms."

"Good heavens," I exclaimed, appropriately flabbergasted. "Then who's the man here?"

"The ruffian who did it, of course. Evidently a plot to get hold of one of our newest planes. The ruffian has stolen Vibach's uniform so as to personate him."

"Never heard of such a thing in my life. What shall I do?"

"Keep him till we can get over."

"But he's armed, I expect."

"He'll have Vibach's revolver, of course. You'll have to be careful. Perhaps the best thing will be to keep him in play. Let him think you're going to give him the 'bus, and let your men tinker with it for a quarter of an hour or so; I shall be with you by then; and when he speaks to me I'll put him off the scent by saying I can't get over for an hour."

"I can manage that easily. He's coming now," I said, hearing Harden's voice in the outer room. I paused a moment or two, shuffled my feet, and then spoke in my own voice. "You there, Schiller?" I asked sharply.

"Yes. That you, Vibach?"

"I should think it is. Look here, what the dickens is this tale you've been telling about me?"

He repeated the pith of what he had first told Harden, explaining that he was quite as anxious for my safety as for that of the plane. Harden entered as he was speaking, told me the 'bus was nearly ready, and that he wished to say a word to Schiller when I'd finished. I nodded; and as he could only hear my half of the conversation, of course, I dovetailed it in to fit the position. The result was good enough to incline me to put a saint's halo round the head of the man who invented the 'phone.

"Of course that puts a different look on it, but you really ought to be more careful, Schiller. I'm as sober as a judge, man. Harden's standing by me now, and he'll tell you the same in a minute."

"He told me so; but I was bound to take notice of what I heard. We can't risk the life of one of our best airmen and the loss of our newest type of bus——"

"Don't talk rot, man. I was never fitter in my life than I am at this moment. I've just arranged with Harden to prove that by taking up one of the old ones here."

This woke him up. "Eh? What's that?"

"Don't fool like that. Of course I'm not. Just a little spin round, to show him that I can take charge of No. 14 all right."

"You'd better not do that, Vibach."

"Of course he does, man. Do you think he doesn't know enough to tell whether a man's drunk or sober. I can't make you out."

SUPERANNUATION ACT.

A deputation representing the Commonwealth and State Public Service Confederation yesterday asked the Assistant-Treasurer (Mr. Fitzpatrick) to bring the Superannuation Act into full operation at the earliest opportunity.

"All things being satisfactory during the balance of the financial year," the Minister replied, "the Government proposes that this Act shall be brought into force in its entirety at the beginning of the next financial year—July 1, 1919. If, through pressure of business, the necessary legislation is not introduced this session, it will be brought before Parliament early next year."

WOMEN'S COLUMN.

PENELOPE'S NOTES.

EGGS AND POTATOES.

The egg market is still turning a smiling face towards the housekeeper. She can buy as many of those most useful essentials to good living, fresh eggs, as she feels disposed to at the very modest price of 1/2 a dozen. Only a few short weeks hence, and she will find herself frequently "hard put to" to obtain really good table eggs at all, and she will count herself extremely fortunate if she is then only asked to pay as much again per dozen for them as she is paying now. But, of course, she has been investing in preservatives, and has been, and still is, preparing for the scarce season so rapidly approaching. Meanwhile we are at liberty to imagine her with a plentitude of eggs at hand; eggs for cake-making for custards and omelettes, even for those soups and sauces that are so improved by the addition of the yolk of an egg.

It frequently happens that a cook after she has made several dishes for dinner or luncheon finds herself left with a few whites of eggs on hand, the yolks having been turned to account in some pudding or custard. She hates to throw these trifles away—and yet, here, on the spur of the moment, as it were, what else can she do with them? They can be used for making puddings, and if properly treated, few people will detect the absence of the yolk. They can be well beaten, and flavoured and placed on the top of a baked milk pudding, then lightly browned in the oven; or they can be lightly beaten, have boiling milk poured on them, be placed in an oven, and very slowly baked, and served as baked custard. People find it hard to believe a baked custard can be made with the whites of the eggs only, but it can and it will be found to be both good and very nourishing.

The following recipe is for a cake made with only the whites of the eggs. It will, if correctly made, be found to be very delicate and delicious. Beat a cup of white sugar and half a cup of butter together till they are light and very white; in another bowl mix together one cup of flour, two teaspoons of baking powder, and half a cup of maizena or cornflour. Add this flour by degrees to the butter and sugar, and lastly stir in the whites of three eggs, beaten to a stiff froth. Bake in a moderate oven, carefully covered with grease-proof paper.

A delicious fruit sponge may be made as follows:—Soak ½oz of gelatine in enough water to just cover it, and leave it to soften. Next put into a small saucepan half a pint of cold water, half a pint of any fruit syrup (pineapple is excellent for this purpose), and a dessertspoon of lemon juice. Heat these ingredients, and add to them the soaked gelatine and 1½oz of sugar. Stir over a slow fire till the gelatine is melted, and then stand aside and allow to grow cool. Put the whites of two eggs into a basin, pour the liquid ingredients over, and whisk all to a stiff froth. Then, lastly, add two or three tablespoons of pears, pineapples, or whatever fruit has been chosen, cut into dice, serve heaped up roughly in a glass dish.

Some people find it a very difficult matter to whip the eggs to a stiff froth, and they weary themselves in striving to perform this part of their work. In reality, success in this undertaking, as in many others, depends less on the time and labour expended than on the method employed—in short, on knack—in this case, the skilful application of the rotary movement.

A good cooking book says: Have a deep bowl with a circular bottom, and in beating the eggs keep the whisk as much as possible in an upright position, moving it very rapidly without bearing on the bottom of the basin. A little boiling water, a tablespoon to two eggs, and a teaspoon of sifted sugar put to them before beating is commenced facilitate the operation, and in the result whites of eggs will be firmer and yolks thicker than without the sugar and water.

New-laid eggs are very difficult to beat up well, and do not make cakes and puddings equal to those that have been kept a little while. They may, however, be rendered more suitable for culinary purposes by keeping them for some hours in a bowl of warm water, with a temperature not exceeding 90 degrees. A knife is a better article to use for egg-beating than a fork, though the latter is more generally used.

With regard to potatoes, the cry has gone round pretty generally to housewives to boil them in their jackets for economy and health's sake. Mrs. Alfred Praga, in a chapter on the science of saving, says: "Potatoes are a huge aid to economy, although (and herein I know I defy public opinion) I would beg of you not to boil them in their jackets. Why? Because that way I do not consider the finest economy lies. Economy of sorts, yes; but not the fine fleur of the purest thrift. Try this instead: Well wash the potatoes, peel them very thinly; wash them well again, boil them in about twice the usual amount of water till just done, in company with, maybe, an onion. Drain them when cooked, and keep them hot till needed, letting them acquire a certain amount of desirable flouriness in a colander over some hot steam, or over the casserole in which the meat course is cooking. Add a good lump of nut butter, and a tablespoon of flour, or a handful of stale breadcrumbs to the water, in which the potatoes were boiled. Add pepper, salt and a tiny pinch of mace, to taste. If you have used flour, stir till the soup thickens, and continue boiling for a full ten minutes after it has reached boiling point, and you will have a good savoury soup, quite sufficient for four or five people, at the cost of about 1d.

Onions are still almost ridiculously dear. One is asked to pay 6d a pound for them, and even then, they are nothing at all special as to quality. Asparagus continues very good, and 1/, 1/6, and 2/6 a bundle. Peas are fair as to quality, and 6d a pound. French beans are 7d a pound, broad beans, 3d, marrows are just in, but too dear and small as yet to be recommended. Cauliflowers and cabbages remain unaltered in price, but such things as carrots and parsnips are very dear—4d a bunch.

In the fruit world good apples cost about 1½d each, as do really good oranges. Strawberries are very abundant, and 1/3, 1/9, and 2/ a punnet; loquats are 4d and 6d a pound, and mulberries 1/ a small basket. It is very hard at present to buy good bananas, small Queensland and northern rivers fruit being as much as 10d a dozen, and Fiji being almost unobtainable.

FROM NEAR AND FAR.

The annual exhibition of the Society of Arts and Crafts of New South Wales will be opened this afternoon by Lady Davidson in the art gallery, Department of Education, Loftus and Bridge streets, city.

The committee of the 18th Battalion Comforts' Fund, under the direction of Mrs. Woolcott, held a gift afternoon at the Soldiers' Club yesterday afternoon. A musical programme was arranged by Miss Barsley, and the following artists contributed:—Misses Michael, Boggis, Davies, Wigg, and Pask. A number of useful gifts were collected to assist in stocking the stall, which will be stationed outside the Bank of Australasia, Moore-street, on Jack's Day.

The 30th Battalion Comforts' Fund celebrated their third annual reunion in the ballroom at Sargent's, Market-street, yesterday afternoon. The hon. secretary, Miss Sloane, gave a report of the work done during the year. Goods to the approximate value of £1200, in addition to £500 which had been cabled, had been sent to the boys of the battalion, together with 1008 Christmas boxes, 500 puddings, 500lb of cake, 1300 shirts and mufflers, and 1200 pairs of socks. The block of land given by Land, Ltd., had realised £432, and the refreshment pavilion at the Showground, under the direction of Mesdames Payten, Winn, and Cross, had resulted in £1000 being added to the funds. Various smaller sums had been raised by entertainments and the weekly shop. Mr. S. S. Cohen, in the course of his address, suggested that, in honour of the occasion, £250 should be cabled over to the boys. "Don't let them wait until Christmas; send it to them as a surprise," said Mr. Cohen, and the committee readily agreed to the suggestion. Mr. Austin Chapman also gave a short address. The following office-bearers were elected for the coming year:—President, Mrs. J. W. Clark; vice-presidents, Lady Ewing, Mesdames Waley, Austin Chapman, Cohen, Winn, Meeks; hon. secretary, Miss Sloane; assistant hon. secretary, Miss Rixon; hon. treasurer, Miss Riley. A short musical programme was given, to which Miss Degotardi and Miss Lilian Gibson contributed.

A meeting of the publicity committee of the Prince Alfred Hospital Jubilee Fund was held at the rooms, Bull's-chambers, yesterday afternoon, and many schemes were formulated for making the urgent needs of the hospital as widely known as possible. It costs 2/6 an hour per ward to maintain the hospital, and the committee is anxious to garner in as many of these coins as possible in order to continue the good work that is done at this institution. The hospital, which was founded on March 20, 1882, in commemoration of the restoration to health of Prince Alfred (Duke of Edinburgh), was planned to accommodate 341 patients, but this year there are more than 500 occupied beds. Funds are urgently needed, and the general public is requested to co-operate in making up all deficiencies.

The Sydney University Undergraduates' Association will tender a farewell dance to the University Company in the Sydney Town Hall on Friday, November 1. The dance is under the patronage of Sir William Cullen.

The Petersham Patriotic Committee will conduct a stall on Jack's Day, the H.M.A.S. Sydney, in front of the New South Wales Bank, Parramatta-road and Northumberland-avenue. Mrs. Coffey will be in charge, assisted by six young ladies dressed as Jack Tars, namely, Misses Doris Gardner, Jones (2), Merle, Sewell, and Ettie Simpson. Help for furnishing the stall will be gratefully received.

ON THE LAND.

FRUIT INDUSTRY.

The recent interstate conference of fruit-growers held at Launceston was of a very satisfactory nature, and indicated the existence of a broader and more progressive spirit amongst the growers, or at least those represented at the conference. A pleasing feature was the national tone that prevailed. Delegates evidently realised that the time had arrived when the problems of the industry demanded survey from the Australian standpoint, and not that of individual States. If this feeling is supported by the bulk of the growers, the industry has made a great step towards rapid and sound development. Of course the conference only echoed the feelings and standpoint of the delegates as a body, and they have to receive the endorsement and support of the fruitgrowers in the different States if headway is to be made. It remains to be seen if the same broad and united feeling prevails amongst the rank and file of the industry, and whether individual growers will realise the advantage of co-operative effort throughout the Commonwealth, and be prepared to pay their share towards the necessary development work. The conference, amongst other things, agreed that growers should tax themselves to the extent of sixpence per acre for the purpose of exploiting new markets. There are some 275,000 acres under fruit trees in the Commonwealth, and, therefore, the tax if loyally paid by growers would represent a useful sum for the purpose proposed. It is hoped that the Federal Government will give a subsidy of 6d, but that will largely depend upon the action of growers as a body. The attitude of the Government, no doubt, will be largely influenced by the willingness or otherwise of the growers to help themselves. It is well to note in this connection that some of the organised American fruitgrowers in the Western States have subscribed a million dollars for the same purpose, with which they intend to provide cold storage facilities for the Eastern trade. If our growers wish to compete in this trade they will require to show similar enterprise. An auxiliary of a sound export trade is a standardisation of cases and fruit packing, and both these factors were strongly supported. The delegates dealt with these matters in detail, and have gone back to their respective States to advocate them amongst the growers. It is recognised that in any considerable export trade a uniform system of grading and packing must be of very great value. They are indeed an essential if we are to compete with countries that are particular regarding the standard and grade of their fruit.

The feeling of the conference was in favour also of a world-standard fruit case, so that a case of apples would be the same in one country as in another. The advantages of such a system are obvious, and this is a matter which should be advocated vigorously amongst growers. The Canadian case was favoured, and finally the conference carried a motion requesting the various States to conduct experiments to ascertain if any timber can be found suitable for the Canadian case with the bulge. This matter should not be allowed to drop. Experiments have been made in this State, and they require to be thoroughly exhaustive. At the conference attention was called to the characteristics of the silver wattle (Accacia dealbata), which, it was stated, had been found to make a tough and pliable timber particularly suitable for the top of cases for export. The conference in this connection also recommended that the officers of the State agricultural departments be requested to investigate and report exhaustively on Pinus insignis, in view of its general suitability, and to consider the advantages of hoop pine, yellow pine, sassafras, mountain ash, and tallowwood. Delegates, particularly those from here, return with an added appreciation of the value of cold storage, and it is to be hoped this will have a tangible and early effect locally. As an instance of how backward we are in this State, there is provision for the cold storage of fruit in Sydney to the extent of some 60,000 cases, while in Victoria there is accommodation for 900,000 cases. In the Harcourt district in that State the growers some 18 months ago were assisted by the Government to finance cold storage provision for 16,000 cases, individual growers guaranteeing to store at least 250 cases. So successful was the scheme that the Government is now being requested by the growers to assist them in increasing the accommodation to a capacity of 30,000 cases.

ROYAL SHOW.

The question of how to provide more time for the growing sales of cattle in connection with the Royal Show was discussed at a meeting of the council of the Royal Agricultural Society. It was therefore recommended to the council that the Royal Show should open on Monday in the first week instead of Tuesday, as hitherto, and that the cattle and no other section should be judged on Monday, thus leaving three clear days for the sales before Good Friday. The council adopted the recommendation. The effect of this will be that all cattle will have to be in the show-ground by 10 a.m. on Monday, April 14, when judging will begin. The cattle committee made some alterations in the fat cattle section. No animal over five years of age will be allowed to be exhibited in this section in future. The classes for the best heavyweight bullock over 1800lb live weight, and the best heavyweight cow over 1400lb, are to take the places of the heaviest bullock and heaviest cow classes.

In connection with the Jubilee exhibition, the Education Department had arranged to have a children's display on the first night of the show, and it was decided to arrange a children's day in the following week. The council also adopted a recommendation to make band music a prominent feature of the show. The schedule of the Horticultural Society for its combined flower show on the last three days of the exhibition was adopted.

It was reported that the season was so bad in the area set apart for the field wheat competition this year that it was possible that the competition might have to be withdrawn. But it was decided to wait for a couple of weeks before coming to a final decision.

TOBACCO MOULD.

Although the seasonal conditions at Tamworth have been abnormally dry, blue mould has again made its appearance in the tobacco seed beds during the last week, the Minister for Agriculture (Mr. W. C. Grahame) stated yesterday. The biologist and the tobacco expert of the Department of Agriculture have the matter under investigation, and it is to be hoped that preventive measures may be evolved which will permit growers to obtain sufficient plants for their requirements.

It was observed during the investigation of this disease last season that in two instances where the seedlings which were infected by blue mould were chopped off to the ground by hail they subsequently recovered sufficiently to allow of their being planted out and finally produced a good quality leaf. In another instance, later in the season, a grower cut the plants back, only leaving the heart intact, and succeeded in saving enough plants to produce a crop. In view of these instances, it is suggested that on the first appearance of blue mould on the plants nearly ready for transplanting growers should cut the plants right back to the heart, and clean off and burn all leaves—this to include the small dead ones at the extreme base of the plant. The admission of sunlight and air is the best antidote for mould, and growers will be well advised if they thin the plants out to enable this treatment to be most effective.

Owing to the prevalence of this disease in the district again this season it is recommended that growers who have seed beds not yet affected should take the earliest opportunity of getting their plants transplanted to the field. In the ordinary way plants are usually taken from the bed when about six to eight inches high, but as no time should be lost, smaller plants can be used if particular care is taken in withdrawing from the seed beds, and for this purpose it is recommended that the seed beds be well watered and plants be dug out individually with a table fork, at the same time retaining as much of the soil adhering to the roots as is possible.

SOLDIER SETTLERS.

The Minister for Lands, Mr. W. G. Ashford, said yesterday:—"I notice in this morning's 'Herald' a statement by Mr. Bennett, M.L.A., that soldiers were being selected indiscriminately for settlement on the land. No doubt there was a certain absence of uniformity in the selections when the local land boards were dealing with soldiers' applications, and there may be isolated instances where mistakes were made owing to insufficient knowledge. But since the Amending Soldiers' Settlement Act, together with its regulations, has come into force, the closest possible scrutiny is given every application, and I say without hesitation that never in the history of the State was more attention paid to the necessity of selecting men who have land settlement qualifications. No doubt Mr. Bennett did not know this, but the soldiers' settlement office is open and available for inquiry as to what methods are adopted."

STARLINGS AND GRASSHOPPERS

Mr. H. E. Kater, M.L.C., writes:—

I notice that the officer investigating the grasshopper plague in the Scone district has examined the stomach of a starling, and found it full of grasshoppers. This statement bears out what I have constantly said in your columns and in Parliament, viz., that the starlings eat the very diminutive grasshopper as soon as it comes out of the ground, and so dispose of millions and yet they are put upon the schedule of birds which may be destroyed.

SUPREME COURT.

FULL COURT.

(Before Sir Wm. Cullen, C.J., Mr. Justice Pring, and Mr. Justice Sly.)

SUPPOSED ENCUMBERED TITLE.

Ex parte Dettman, re Real Property Act.

A special case was stated ex parte the Registrar-General for the advice of the Court as to the proper procedure to be adopted in a case arising under the Real Property Act of 1900. An application dated June 26, 1914, was made by Wm. Albert Dettman, who claimed to be entitled to a fee simple in possession, to have the land brought under the Real Property Act of 1900. During the pendency of the application, Dettman directed the certificate of title for the said land to issue to his wife, Ellen Ann Fairfax Dettman, the direction being intended to have the effect of a voluntary disposition or a gift of the land to his wife. Matters were in order for the issue of the certificate, but the Registrar-General deemed it his duty, under the Act, to claim that a notification that the land was held under a voluntary settlement should be noted on the certificate, for the reason that, under the Stamp Duties Acts, both of the State and the Commonwealth, if the maker of a gift or a voluntary transfer of property dies within a year in the case of Commonwealth law, or within three years in the case of the State Act, the estate so conveyed has a charge upon it in favour of the Crown for duty at the rate which would be charged on the rest of the estate which he might die possessed of. The Registrar-General, having in view a decision of the Privy Council to the effect that under the Real Property Act a person dealing with land might rely upon the Registrar, in this case took the view suggested that if a certificate were issued without the endorsement, it would amount to cloaking under the Registrar what might be an encumbered title. Dettman objected to the proposed action as not authorised by the Act, and the questions now stated for the advice of the Court were, whether the Registrar should endorse the certificate in the manner suggested; whether in the event of the certificate being so endorsed, the title should date from the time of the disposition or of the issue of the certificate; and whether if the Full Court were of opinion that the endorsement could not be made the application could be refused, on the ground that there was an unsatisfied encumbrance affecting the land, or that a sufficient title had not been made out. Mr. Bethune, instructed by the Crown Solicitor, appeared for the Registrar-General.

The Court were of the opinion that the circumstances indicated a possibility which, for a limited time, might result in the arising of a statutory charge, which did not seem to come within the words of the provisions or schedule of the Act setting out encumbrances, liens, estates, or interests in lands endorsable upon title certificates. They thought, therefore, that it was no part of the Registrar's duty to endorse the suggested notification upon the certificate. The first and third questions were accordingly answered in the negative.

CLAIM FOR CUSTODY OF SONS.

Ex parte Callon, habeas corpus.

Mr. Maxwell (instructed by Mr. G. Davidson, of Mudgee, by his Sydney agent, Mr. F. H. Greaves), applied to have made absolute a rule nisi for habeas corpus, granted last term, ex parte William Callon, directed to Caroline Callon, the applicant's wife. Callon's affidavit was to the effect that, after living for some years with his wife, he left the home at Portland to seek work, and eventually succeeded in obtaining employment at Mosman. During his absence his wife left with another man for New Zealand, leaving the two sons of the marriage with Callon's mother at Mudgee. The respondent returned after some little time, accompanied by the man with whom she had left Australia, and settled first at Torbane, and later at Kandos. At her request Callon's sons were permitted to visit her on various occasions. Eventually, accompanied by a police constable, she removed them from their grandmother's custody. When the applicant and his brother visited Kandos to recover possession of the boys, and had got them to the railway station, the respondent, supported by a police officer, who threatened to arrest the applicant if he interfered between the boys and their mother, forcibly took them from the custody of the father. The respondent (represented by Messrs. Mason and Weston, instructed by Mr. E. R. Abigail), replied by affidavits that she had always been treated with great cruelty by the applicant; that he had deserted her at Portland in 1909, leaving her with the two children destitute; that he had never seen the children, except once this year, and had never maintained them, and that one at least of the boys was over the age at which his father could claim custody.

The Court refused habeas corpus, but without costs, and ordered the documents in the case to be forwarded to the Chief Secretary.

INDUSTRIAL FULL COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Heydon and Judges Rolin and Curlewis.)

APPEALS DISMISSED.

Reserved judgment was given upon appeals brought on behalf of the Railway Commissioners and other Government and private employers of labour against awards made by his Honor Judge Rolin in the case of the Government Railways No. 1 Board, and outside labourers, No. 1 Board. The contention of the employers was that his Honor had wrongly applied the cost of living and marginal judgments of the Court, the result being that the wages given, in the case of basic labourers, were 2d per week too much, and proportionately too much in the case of higher-paid workers. Objection was also taken to a concession to underground workers of 44 hours instead of 48 hours per week, as before the award. Mr. Ferguson appeared for the Railway Commissioners and other Government departments affected (instructed by the Railway Solicitor and the Crown Solicitor); Mr. Phelps Richard for the Public Works Contractors' Association; Mr. Kirby for the Neuchatel Asphalt Company, Ltd., and others, applicants; whilst the United Labourers' Union and the Australian Workers' Union, respondents, were represented respectively by Mr. Cantor (Messrs. Cecil A. Coghlan and Co.) and Mr. J. B. Moffatt. The appeals were unanimously dismissed.

INDUSTRIAL COURT.

(Before his Honor Judge Curlewis.)

The constitution of the Engine-drivers' Group No. 1 (Engine-drivers', State) Board was, on the application of Mr. Henwood, who appeared for the union, widened to include engine-drivers, firemen, and crane-drivers employed on pontoons and punts, except those employed in the dredge services of the Public Works Department and Sydney Harbour Trust.

DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Judge Backhouse.)

MOTOR CARS' COLLISION.

Charles David Hyland, of Bondi, provision merchant, claimed £175 from Joseph Alexander Murdoch, of Moore Park. The plaintiff alleged that the defendant so negligently drove his motor car that it collided with great force against the plaintiff's motor car, rendering it useless. The accident happened at about 11.30 p.m. on July 30 last, at the corner of Regent and Cleveland streets, Sydney. The defence was not guilty, and that the plaintiff was responsible for the accident. Mr. Maddocks Cohen appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. W. W. Perry, instructed by Mr. P. J. Clines, for the defendant. His Honor returned a verdict for the plaintiff for £150.

£3 PER WEEK.

FULL COURT AND LIVING WAGE.

The Industrial Full Court delivered reserved judgment yesterday upon a question specially argued as the interpretation to be given by Judges to the Board of Trade's recent finding in respect of the living wage. The Board of Trade found in effect, that upon the figures of the Commonwealth Statistician the cost of living in New South Wales had increased to £2 18s 6d, up to the present, and that the effective minimum wage was £3 per week. The President of the Court, Mr. Justice Heydon, said he was of opinion that the board was not limited in declaring the living wage as an amount which upon its inquiry into the increase or decrease of the average cost of living it might find to be the cost of living. He thought the board's pronouncement was a declaration of £3 per week as the living wage for adult males within the metropolitan area, and in future awards therefore the minimum wage for adult males in that area would be not less than £3 a week, or an equivalent rate per hour or per day. Application might be made under existing awards to raise to the new living wage rate all wages below that rate. Section 7b (3) made it impossible for the Judges if they touched the wages in those awards to change them to anything less than the new living wage, but there might be cases in which they would have to leave them untouched. Their Honors Judges Rolin and Curlewis agreed, and the Court arranged to hear further argument as to whether the scale of diminishing increases should be now abolished, and if not to what point should its diminishing point be raised; also upon questions affecting onus of proof as to war benefit or prejudice. Mr. Cantor (Messrs. Cecil A. Coghlan and Co.) appeared for the unions at the hearing; and Mr. Ferguson (instructed by Messrs. Norton, Smith, and Co., Messrs. Sly and Russell, and Messrs. J. Stuart Thom and Co.) for various associations of employers.

The Sydney Morning Herald.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1918.

A NEW ORDER.

During the middle of August an article appeared in "Vorwaerts" of which the following summary was quoted in the British Press:—"The misery of the masses has reached its lowest depths, and cries to heaven for vengeance on those who strive to prolong the struggle. That misery must cease. Those who will may call us pacifists. We are. We want peace, we want it now, and we mean to have it. Socialistic anti-pacificism is a thing that must be thrown into the lumber-room of the past." The article, it should be said, contained a charge by the Majority against the Minority Socialists, that they were prolonging the war in the hope of bringing about a revolution. It is none the less significant of the pressure on the German Government at the present time. The Emperor and the Chancellor must find peace if they possibly can. On the one hand they have a people goaded beyond its customary docility by lack of food, by continuous losses, and by disappointment. On the other they see the American army continually increasing, so that by holding a shortened line during the winter they will only be postponing their doom. At the same time, for the sake of their country and of their own order, they must escape from some of the worst penalties which a conquering army can impose. They must depend on the reluctance of the Allies to expend more lives after the immediate safety of their own countries has been secured, and they must seek to divert from the nation the wrath which has been directed against the policy of its rulers. The two motives appear in the latest of the Notes addressed to President Wilson. The German Government still singles out the United States, although its last appeal for an armistice was referred to the Allied Governments, and it still relies on political changes in Germany as a proof of sincerity. The significance of those changes is unquestionable. Even if they had been designed by the Court party as a trick and were to be repealed immediately after the proclamation of peace, they would stand as the most humiliating confession of defeat of a class and of an idea. It is far more probable that they are intended as a protection to the Court party against revolutionary violence, and that the success or failure of the plan will be determined by the refusal or acceptance of peace by the Allies in the near future. Whatever the motive of the changes it is certain that the Allies can give only one answer to the appeal. If an armistice is granted Germany must give guarantees not merely for carrying out the conditions of the armistice but for carrying out the terms of peace. To-day an armistice is not needed for the negotiation of terms. The Allies stated the least they were prepared to accept in the days when every German was exulting in victory. There may be additions to-day in the form of penalties on individuals, as was foreshadowed some time ago by Mr. Asquith after the murder of Captain Fryatt. But Germany must now give guarantees that she will carry out such terms as the return of Alsace-Lorraine, and the reparation of France and Belgium. Such a condition would not be satisfied by the abdication of the Emperor. The German people throughout have never shown any general disapproval of the ideas of international morality practised by their rulers. They would be just as likely as the Hohenzollerns to repudiate the onerous provisions of a treaty once they could believe themselves free from invasion and from hunger. In the Allied countries the cost in money and life of each day of the war is felt as bitterly as in Germany. But European Allies have seen what a confident Germany will do. They will not make peace until they are assured by something more cogent than words that the power for mischief, either of the Emperor or of his people, has been destroyed.

In the cable news from Austria two facts are clear; that the subject nationalities are asserting themselves both as legitimate belligerents and as rebels, and that a revolutionary movement is threatening both Parliamentary and autocratic Government. Both Austria and Hungary have to face a racial movement from which Germany is free, but apparently the danger of economic revolution is far smaller in Budapest than in Vienna. The recognition by all the Allies of an independent status for the Czechs and Slovaks has naturally had its most marked effect in centres of Slav communities such as Prague and Agram, but it has also increased the racial discontent of the Czech and Croat regiments, which for some time have been kept on garrison duty only. The Emperor is now said to have left Vienna for Budapest as a preliminary to the abdication of the Imperial throne. Vienna is no doubt absolutely beyond hope as a centre of government. The racial groups make Parliamentary government impossible. The Socialists will not tolerate government by the Emperor and his Ministers. But unless there has been some unreported movement in Hungary a declaration of independence from Budapest cannot be expected with any confidence. Count Karolyi, who is said to be at the head of the movement, has inherited a hatred of Austria from the time of the rebellion, and had advocated independence long before the beginning of the war. Hitherto he has had no political influence. Hungarian Ministers in the past have demanded all the symbols of independence, such as separate ambassadors and separate army commands, but the party of revolt has had no following of importance. Hungary has been too deeply interested in the oppression of her own subject races, the Croats and the Roumanians, to contemplate living without German support. During the war there has been no more savage exponent of German aims than Count Tisza, formerly Prime Minister of Hungary, who was, until a few months ago, the most powerful man in the country. The Hungarians are the most striking example in history of the countervailing dangers of the nationalist idea. Having fought for their own liberties they have become remorseless bullies of the minor nationalities under them. No doubt they would make a separate peace if a continuance of this license were guaranteed. But it cannot be guaranteed by the Allies. The Croats must be liberated just as surely as the Italians, the Roumanians, and Servians must be protected. Hungary might make peace rather than fight any longer with the defeated Austrians, but it is hard to say what she would not sacrifice if she sacrificed her racial ascendancy.

TAXATION AND ECONOMY.

The last war loan has been oversubscribed, and once more we may congratulate ourselves upon the result. Millions of money are still being lent to enable the Commonwealth to carry on its share of the war, and a great deal of the vast sum just found will be spent in Australia. There will be a continuance of the present appearance of prosperity. But taxation is also increasing, as we know to our cost. The new postal rates, like all the additional taxation which has been imposed upon the country in the last few years, have been accepted by the people without open protest. They are at present in a position to meet the fresh charges without inconvenience, and the discontent generally aroused by new taxation is set-off by a general acceptance of the fact that money must be found for the prosecution of a just war. There have been murmurings, however, which the Federal and State Governments should carefully note, for they tend to grow rather than decrease. They are an expression of resentment, that while the Governments are constantly placing new burdens upon the taxpayers and reminding them of an obligation to economise, Ministers themselves permit all through their departments the wasteful methods, with an overlapping and a redundancy of effort which grew up in the easy, comfortable years before the war. The mass of taxpayers have a painful realisation of the difference between the average business house, which readjusts its whole organisation as the need arises, and the administration of public departments. It is true that commissioners have been making inquiry, and that the Minister for Defence has just called in a capable business man to help him; but there is still so much outstanding that much time will be wasted before reform is possible. The people instinctively recognise the injustice of it, and are, therefore, not moved as they should be, to eliminate waste. This the economic condition of the world most urgently demands. In America the bold methods of trained business men have been applied to the conduct of the country's affairs under war conditions. Public confidence has been gained, and so we see such things as the whole of the eastern States voluntarily imposing petrol-less Sundays upon themselves, resulting in an enormous saving of the valuable motor spirit. Similarly conservative Britain completely revised her system of government to meet the strain involved in the change from peace to war; and here again the people, recognising that its effort was genuine and sincere, warmly co-operated with the Government in voluntary meatless days, wheatless days, and such movements as the organisation of women as farm workers, of whom 270,000 were officially reported at the end of 1917. Why have we had no national movements of the kind in Australia?

But we must not blame the politician over much. If the war has aroused in all countries a clamour for reconstruction and co-ordination and systematisation it has also brought a general realisation of the shortcomings of the system of popular government. Those shortcomings were as apparent in other countries as in Australia; the difference is that other countries lost no time in seeking drastic reorganisation and greater efficiency. Among the truths exposed by the fierce fires of war is the certainty that if popular government is to be ready at all times to meet national crises there must be a clearer recognition of his responsibilities in the mind of the individual voter. He must learn that in electing a Parliamentary representative he is not placing a man in a comfortable position, but appointing a manager of his business. A direct personal interest in the carrying out of any undertaking makes for success; and in this lies the explanation of the frequent failure of State departments. Yet it should not be so. The most modest trader must make use of the post-office or the railway, for instance, and to that extent those departments become an essential part of his business. If the extension and development of these State activities were not regarded as the intrusion of communism, and, therefore, as a subject for uncompromising criticism, but were accepted as the legitimate widening and strengthening of opportunities for individual enterprise, many evils of the system would disappear. The public would then insist that each department be at once an expression of business efficiency and of the pride of the men who administer it. There is a field here for the better education of the public. Professor Spenser Wilkinson, of Oxford, on this subject has pointed out that to produce competent administrators is the chief function of national education, but to discover them and put power into their hands is the hardest test of the statesman. The most dangerous defect in the national structure is the weakness of government that necessarily results from giving authority to men without knowledge of the great business departments they must administer. "Government by incompetence" is the system generally practised before the war by which a personage distinguished by party services or by anything except mastery of the business he is to superintend was placed as Cabinet Minister at the head of a department; while "government by competence," brought about in nearly all the countries now at war by the paramount need for efficiency, is the result of placing at the head of a department the man most highly qualified in that department's work. Economic pressure after the war may force the permanent acceptance of such a system.

RECONSTRUCTION.

TREMENDOUS POST-WAR PROBLEMS.

PRODUCTION MUST BE INCREASED.

At a complimentary luncheon tendered to Mr. Beeby (Minister for Labour and Industry) by Sir Owen Cox, at which a number of representative citizens were present, at the Hotel Australia yesterday prior to his departure for America some comments were made by the Minister on post-war problems.

"We must remember," said Mr. Beeby, "that after all previous wars neutral countries have been able to lend money to belligerents for the purposes of reconstruction, and the recovery from the wastage of war has in the past been always rapid. In the present instance, however, all the nations of any wealth with any surplus capital of moment for investment have been in the conflict. They have not only used all their reserves, but have accumulated debts to the extent, probably, of over 40 billion pounds. Reconstruction on this occasion, therefore, starts not only without any reserves of capital to work upon, but with an overdraft—a charge on future production which almost staggers the imagination.

"The problems of reconstruction," continued Mr. Beeby, "will be far greater than the problem of financing the war. We discovered during the war that where a group of the wealthiest nations were engaged in a common purpose they could continue to carry on without limit on a paper currency, which for practical purposes was interchangeable between them. But when the war is over each nation must set its own house in order. Each nation will be brought face to face with a huge charge on future production, and unless the change in international financial relationship, which was the most unexpected phase of war finance, can be continued by mutual arrangement, the statesmanship of all countries will be tested to straining point.

"I do not anticipate an Australian boom when the war is over. We will begin probably with an annual interest liability of over £15,000,000 and over £5,000,000 to meet our obligations to returned soldiers. This £20,000,000 per annum will be a definite charge on future production. Our Australian debt has created no new asset. Our debts in the past have been quite safe, because, roughly speaking, in railways, tramways, and other public utilities, we have acquired an asset capable of paying nearly the whole interest charge. But the war debt is a dead horse, which must be worked off. We can only work it off by increasing production. We have, however, one advantage over other nations in the world in our reserves of undeveloped wealth. But in order to develop our resources we will not be able to borrow money from other countries, for the reason that any surplus they may be able to show will be ear-marked to meet their own future liabilities. Australian finance must be self-contained, and we can only pull through by the united effort of all sections of the community to largely increase its wealth production."

STATE PARLIAMENT.

A RUSH OF WORK.

With only six weeks to go before the expiry of the present session of the State Parliament, Ministers find the business paper very heavy with a large number of measures, with which little or no progress has been made. In all probability the Government will appropriate Friday as an extra sitting day until the end of the session, using the method adopted last week of moving that the Speaker leave the chair on Thursday nights, instead of formally adjourning, thus avoiding waste of time on Fridays with questions and preliminary business.

This week further progress is to be made with the bulky Local Government Amending Bill; the Poor Persons Legal Rights Bill will be got out of the way, and half a dozen other measures introduced. In the Legislative Council the Sedition Bill is listed for completion this week. Despite the criticism already offered, the Government does not anticipate any real difficulty in getting the bill passed.

POLICE PAY.

HIGHER RATES SOUGHT.

The opinion is held by members of the New South Wales police force that as the Governments of other States have increased the rate of pay for their police that of the New South Wales police should also be raised. It is pointed out that a policeman must bear a good character, and pass certain tests, and yet the rate of pay is lower than that of an unskilled labourer. The men also contend that as a body the police of this State have very loyally performed arduous duties since the outbreak of war. It is understood that in the near future an effort will be made to place these views before responsible authorities.

The rates of pay for the New South Wales police have been raised once since the war. During the financial year 1916-17 an increase of 1/ per day for all confirmed ranks, and 2/ a day for probationary ranks, was made. The New South Wales police also have certain pension rights which do not apply to other States. The minimum rate of pay is now 9/6 per day.

TRAM AND TRAIN FARES.

INCREASES AUTHORISED.

Authority was given to the Railway Commissioners at a special meeting of the Executive Council yesterday to impose additional charges in fares and freights on the railways and tramways of the State.

The new rates will come into operation on Friday next, November 1. They will represent an increase of 7½ per cent. on all railway fares and freights now in operation, with the exception of the North Coast railway, where the increases have been worked out at about 3 per cent.

From Friday next there will be an additional halfpenny charged on all two-section tram fares. There will be no more twopenny sections. For one section the fare will be 1½d, and for two sections 2½d. The 3d, 4d, 5d, and 6d tram fares will remain as they are to-day.

FRENCH WINE RATIONS.

SATISFACTORY RESULTS.

In answer to inquiries made at the instance of the New South Wales Wine Association, the Acting Prime Minister (Mr. Watt) has been informed by the Premier of France, through the High Commissioner, that nine million hectolitres of ordinary quality and twelve million bottles of superior quality wines were supplied to the French troops during 1917. These figures in imperial measure represent 1,200,000,000 bottles. The report further states that the moderate use of not more than one litre per day per soldier had most satisfactory results.

MR. BEEBY'S TRIP.

MR. GRAHAME AS LOCUM TENENS.

At a meeting of the State Cabinet held yesterday, Mr. Grahame, Minister for Agriculture, was appointed to take charge of the Department of Labour and Industry during the absence from Australia of Mr. G. S. Beeby.

The Minister for Labour and Industry will leave Sydney on Wednesday for San Francisco. He proposes to go straight across America to Washington, where he will collect information about the operation of America's industrial laws and the principal features of the administration of the United States Department of Labour. Mr. Beeby, who expects to be away five months—returning to Sydney at the latter end of March—will then proceed to the Atlantic coast districts to study the conditions in the great shipbuilding, iron, mining, and other industries of the United States.

AUSTRALIAN PIGEONS.

GIFT TO ARMY COUNCIL.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Minister for Defence, Senator Pearce, said to-day that as a result of an offer made by the Defence Department, the British Government had accepted a gift of 2000 carrier pigeons, which were duly despatched, and information had now been received by cable message that the birds arrived in excellent condition, and at a most opportune moment. The Army Council, in notifying their safe arrival, desired to convey to the pigeon breeders of Australia its grateful thanks for the generosity of the gift, and to express its great appreciation of the fine class of pigeons sent.

JACK'S DAY.

MESSAGE FROM ADMIRAL BERESFORD.

The secretaries of the Navy League yesterday received the following cablegram from Admiral Lord Charles Beresford:—

"Wish you every possible success for 'Jack's Day.' I heartily approve of all the objects you intend to benefit."

EXHIBITION OF PICTURES.

An exhibition of 70 paintings, sketches, and art photographs presented to the Jack's Day Fund by the artists of Sydney will be opened in Canberra House, at the corner of Liverpool and Elizabeth streets, by his Excellency the Governor, at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The exhibition will be open to-day, to-morrow, and on Thursday. The pictures are to be disposed of by art union.

APPEAL TO EMPLOYERS.

The organisers of the Jack's Day procession are making a special appeal to the employers of cadets of the Royal Australian Naval Brigade to allow the lads permission to take part in the procession through the streets on Jack's Day. The boys are to muster in the Domain near the Registrar-General's office at 9 a.m. on Friday.

PREPARATIONS FOR JACK'S DAY.

Among the hundreds of stalls which will occupy all the main streets of the city on Friday next are many which will possess unique and attractive features. Many of the stalls are to take the form of ships, but there will be others of a kind not hitherto seen in street carnivals. The allotment of special streets to various organisations, who will be solely responsible for the decorations of the thoroughfare and the construction of stalls therein, is an unusual proceeding, which promises excellent results.

The Annandale committee is working vigorously and harmoniously, and there is every probability of the movement being a record success. Arrangements are being made for a village fair in Johnston-street, near the Parramatta-road, with various attractions. The street will be brilliantly illuminated.

There is no lack of interest in the combined appeal which is being organised by the staffs of the Chief Secretary's Department and the Department of Public Health. Barrack-street, which has been allotted to the committee for the occasion, will be partially closed to admit of the erection of 14 stalls. The Police Band and the Firemen's Band will be in attendance, and will render selections throughout the day, and arrangements have also been made for Corporal Kenny, V.C. to be in attendance between 1 and 2 o'clock. The police and firemen are working strenuously to make their art union a great success. The closing day will be November 5, and the drawing will take place on November 22.

The effigy of the German Emperor should provide some entertainment at the village fair to be held at the Broadway on Jack's Day. This will be a giant figure, presented by the J. C. Williamson Company, and will be subjected to whatever treatment the people may think it worthy of. Finally, in the evening, it will be blown out of existence. Other attractions will include Barry Lupino, Claude Flemming, Mons. Goossens, Jack Ralston, Sydney James, Muriel Starr, Ruby Hooper's pupils, the Katinka Quartette, and at night Paramount pictures will be shown in the village fair. His Excellency the Governor has promised to attend.

The members of the Bondi and North Bondi Surf Clubs have combined to hold a monster surf and beach carnival in aid of Jack's Day at Bondi Beach on Saturday afternoon next. The programme will include exhibitions of surfboard riding by pupils of Khanamoku, and sensational canoe races through the breakers.

The shipping section promises something attractive in the shape of entertainments. Selections will be given by well-known bands, including the Police Band, Fire Brigade Band, and Burnside Boys' Band; and from platforms vocal and instrumental items will be rendered by well-known artists. Something special is promised by the children of the Education Department.

The Old Gold and Silver War Fund will have a ship, "H.M.S. Marlborough," in Martin-place on "Jack's Day." Donations of jewellery or gold and silver articles of any description, and whether new or old, battered or broken, beads, jet, and old artificial teeth, are asked for, and may be sent to the head depot, City Mutual-chambers, 62 Hunter-street, Sydney, or to any country or suburban branch of the Bank of New South Wales, or the Commercial Banking Company of Sydney. The Old Gold and Silver War Fund has been in existence for over two years, and with its organisation is able to get good prices for its wares. Sympathisers need not fear that any treasured article they send in will be sacrificed.

The tickets for the "quick raffles" to be used on Friday only may now be obtained at Dalton House, where stallholders will be given an illustration of the correct method of drawing them.

The gift sale, held last week at Canberra House, will be continued to-day and for the rest of the week at the 19th Battalion's depot, at 11 Bent-street. "Fun on H.M.S. Bristol," manned by the Gumnuts," will be moored at the A.B.C. corner, George and King streets. Mrs. C. Bennett and Mrs. Alfred Lee, assisted by the Bronte and North Sydney V.A.Ds., and the Red Cross Sewing Guild, will anchor "H.M.S. Irresistible" in Martin-place. Mrs. Langtree (4th and 56th Battalion) will be in charge of "H.M.S. Britannia," which will be moored at the George-street end of Martin-place. The "H.M.S. Bellerophon," berthed in Martin-place, will be under the command of Madam Shimizu. The beautiful tea set to be raffled on board is on view at Marcelle's, King-street. The ladies' committee of the Seaman's Institute will form the crew of "H.M.S. Patriarch" outside the Bank of New South Wales in George-street.

The Strathfield-Homebush committee of the Red Cross will hold a monster lucky dip of 2000 packets at 1/ each, and special packets for children at 6d.

The A.U.S.N. and B.I.S.N. Companies will conduct a stall, "The Anchorage," in Bridge-street, between Pitt and George streets. The stall has been voluntarily erected by the employees as a week-end cottage. It is built in movable sections, and will be auctioned at 4 p.m. on "Jack's Day" on the site.

A highly successful smoke concert and dance, organised by the combined canine specialists' clubs of New South Wales, was held in the Oxford Hall, Liverpool-street, last night in aid of Jack's Day.

The Scarlet Follies, under Miss Rube Davies and Mr. M'Swiney, will give an entertainment at King's Hall on Thursday night, in aid of Jack's Day.

Among the attractions on Jack's Day will be the Japanese goods to be offered for sale at the Nippon Yusen Kaisha stall in connection with Burns, Philp, and Co.'s exhibit in Bridge-street. All kinds of pretty and novel goods and toys will be stocked.

TO-DAY'S EVENTS.

Opening of exhibition of pictures by the Governor, 3 p.m., Canberra House.
Tank in action, Victoria Park.
"Noah's Evening," St. Clement's Parish Hall, Flood-street, Mosman.
"The Private Secretary," Repertory Theatre.
Dance, Railway and Tramway Survey Branch, Public Works Department.
Fancy dress ball, South Kensington.
Gift evening, Colonnade Hall, Annandale.
Continuation of gift sale at 19th Battalion's rooms, 11 Bent-street.

SEVENTH WAR LOAN.

OVER-SUBSCRIBED.

A TOTAL OF £41,219,000.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Acting Prime Minister, Mr. Watt, announced to-night that according to latest advices, which, of course, were not complete, contributions to the Seventh War Loan amounted to £41,219,410. He expected this sum would be added to by at least £1,000,000 by the money at present in the post, so that it would leave the loan at approximately £42,250,000. The number of subscribers up to the present was 211,678.

The figures from the various States are:—

New South Wales	£15,049,755
Victoria	£13,714,875
Queensland	£5,522,370
South Australia	£4,146,916
Western Australia	£1,496,675
Tasmania	£1,289,925

"I consider this result remarkably good," said Mr. Watt. "It will be plain that compulsion need not be applied to this loan. The bill will, however, be passed for future loans."

FILLING THE QUOTA.

HONOUR FLAG DISTRICTS.

When the organising secretaries of the Seventh War Loan finally made up the quota position last night it was found that 176 centres in the country had won honour flags, and 25 in the metropolitan suburban area. It is expected that this number will be added to during to-day. Last night final appeals were made in the majority of centres, and where the quota was almost reached as a result of the week-end rally special efforts were made during yesterday afternoon and evening to reach the honour flag class.

PERSONAL.

The Minister for Lands, Mr. W. G. Ashford, accompanied by the Director of Soldiers' Settlements (Mr. Bryant) left last evening for Melbourne to attend the repatriation conference. Mr. Ashford expects to return at the week-end.

A private cable message has been received intimating that Lieut. J. W. Wright, of the Australian Flying Corps, the eldest son of Mr. Geo. Wright, of Wahroonga, has been promoted to captain on the field. Captain Wright was wounded during the British advance near Bapaume. He was flying low, four miles over the German lines, and after bombing the enemy turned to machine-gun them. When he got down to about 100ft he was wounded by a machine-gun bullet, which also passed through the petrol tank of his scout machine. He switched on to the emergency tank and managed to return to the British lines. He was three months in the hospital and convalescent homes.

Lieut. J. B. Shaw, who has been awarded the M.C., is a member of the University Club, Sydney, and also a member of the Royal Sydney Golf Club.

Captain George Frederick Lowther, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Lowther, of Woollahra, who some time ago was awarded the Military Cross, has, according to a private cable message just received, been awarded the D.S.O.

Captain Robert Spears Stobo, formerly of the steamers Pukaki and Wonganella, and now on active service, has been gazetted Lieutenant, R.A.N.R. He is the fourth son of Mr. E. H. Stobo, and a stepson of Mrs. Louisa Stobo, who was recently awarded the Royal Red Cross decoration of the first class, and who is still in France. Captain Stobo is a native of Orange. Another son of Mr. E. H. Stobo, James, a native of Sydney, has seen four years' service in Samoa and France, with the New Zealanders, and another son, Roy, a native of Orange, has, after a short period of service, been discharged, invalided.

The Queensland Minister for Railways, Mr. Fihelly, accompanied by Mrs. Fihelly, Mr. J. Davidson (Railway Commissioner), and Mr. J. Grant (private secretary), left Brisbane yesterday for Sydney, en route for America.

THE TREASURY.

MR. FITZPATRICK'S NEW QUARTERS.

It is expected that Mr. Holman will relinquish the portfolio of Treasurer this week, and that Mr. Fitzpatrick will undertake the full responsibility of the Department of Finance and Trade, over which he has been officiating for 18 months as Assistant Treasurer.

The matter was not dealt with at yesterday's meeting of the Cabinet, but will probably be decided on Wednesday. In the meantime, Mr. Fitzpatrick is busy transferring his quarters from the Chief Secretary's building to the suite of offices provided for the Treasurer in the new wing of the Treasury building now nearing completion. The office on the Macquarie-street floor of the Chief Secretary's Department, which has been occupied by the Assistant Treasurer in the three Holman Governments, will be occupied by Mr. Fitzgerald, M.L.C., Minister for Health and Local Government.

Arrangements have not yet been completed for the appointment of an honorary committee of financial advisers to the Treasury.

MIDSHIPMEN.

PASS EXAMINATIONS.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Information has been received by the Acting Minister for the Navy, Mr. Poynton, that the whole of the first party of Australian midshipmen who left the Royal Australian Naval College at Jervis Bay in December, 1916, and who have since been employed in vessels in the North Sea, have satisfactorily passed their seamanship examinations for the rank of lieutenant, and have been promoted to be acting sub-lieutenants as from September 1, 1918. The names of the officers are as follows:—G. W. T. Armitage, J. Burnett, N. K. Calder, J. A. Collins, A. D. Conder, J. C. D. Esdaile, H. B. Farncomb, E. A. Feldt, F. E. Getting, L. F. Gilling, P. H. Hirst, P. J. Kimlin, F. L. Larkins, R. B. M. Long, H. A. Mackenzie, J. B. Newman, E. S. Nurse, W. L. Reilly (K.M.), C. R. A. Sadlier, H. A. Showers, H. J. H. Thompson, L. L. Watkins.

"GERMANY'S INDEMNITY TO AUSTRALIA."

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A motion insisting that Germany must indemnify Australia for her loss in blood and treasure was moved by Councillor Westley at the meeting of the City Council to-day and unanimously agreed to. The sum of £400,000,000 was suggested as the amount of the German indemnity to Australia.

MAGNITUDE OF BATTLES

AND CARELESSNESS AT HOME.

The Rev. H. Steele Craik, late chaplain with the New Zealand forces, was the preacher at a service in commemoration of men of Congregational churches who have fallen in the war, which was held in the Bourke-street Congregational Church last night.

The preacher said that one of the things a man felt when he returned from France was that the people in England, and much more so the people in Australasia, did not sense the things of the war as they ought to. The dimensions of the war operations and the activity, especially before a battle, were staggering. Even men on the spot could hardly grasp the magnitude, which he instanced by stating that in 24 hours just before the Passchendaele battle 37,000 vehicles passed a given point. Yet away from the war zone life went on as gaily as if there was no war on. But in the army and in France and Belgium there was a fixed determination to see the war through to the end. The men had gone from righteous motives, no matter what their view-point might outwardly seem to be, and their going pledged Australasia to live up to the ideals for which they were fighting and dying, and to send to the war front every available man.

STRIKE FIZZLES OUT.

GRAFTON, Monday.

The cane cutters' strike ended in favour of the planters, who had little trouble in filling up the gangs. The men found that they could be done without, and they endeavoured to meet the farmers in conference, but, having sufficient labour to cut the cane crops, the farmers declined to meet the strikers. The men then disbanded, and they are leaving the district. A few decided to join the cutters who remained loyal, and one man tore up his union ticket, declaring that he was disgusted with the whole proceeding.

WAR TIME IN LONDON

(BY OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.)

Coal Shortage.

LONDON, Aug. 27.

The European winter is not far distant, and in that fact alone our threatened shortage of coal is, for millions of the people of these isles, an arresting interest. But the seriousness of it only begins there, for coal shortage already means, and as it continued will increasingly mean, a war problem of the first order. Coal is vitally necessary to the ten thousandfold munitions output of this country. The coal of Great Britain must be available to the British fleet if the British navy is to remain our sure and certain shield. It is indispensable to our own armies in the field. It is no less indispensable to France, with her richest coal fields in the hands of the enemy, and to Italy, which must have coal from Britain or become inadequate to its task as an Allied military power. And the coal of this country's mines must go regularly to neutral countries, because only in return for our coal may we have the invaluable materials and the important services those neutral countries give us, to say nothing of the effect upon them, in the event of failure of our supplies, of the continuous and insistent offer to them of German coal by way of bribe for similar requirements. All these facts have been placed this week before a conference of the British Miners' Federation by Sir Guy Calthrop, the Coal Controller of this country, who, moreover, read to his audience urgent messages from Foch, Clemenceau, Haig, and Beatty, each of them emphatic upon the absolutely essential importance of coal in the present crisis, at the present time. The reason for all this clamour as to coal, and the sudden lift of coal into eminence as a vital need of a crucial hour, is to be found in the serious deficiency in the output which Britain now has to face. It is a deficiency aggregating no less than 36,000,000 tons a year, and this at a time when coal is more than ever demanded of the British mines. Last month, it appears, the output was so far below requirements that the supplies to Allies and neutrals had to be reduced, while the immediate future promises nothing better than the bare covering of the demand even by the most strenuous efforts of the miners, and by the restrictions upon the use of coal now laid upon its consumers in this country. These restrictions are elaborate to the point of being a bewildering problem for millions of householders, who will have to live through the winter by grace of hearths that will be warmed only in so far as a whole armoury of rules and regulations is met and overcome. As to an increased output, that is a matter which has to be arranged somehow, in spite of the withdrawal of thousands of coalminers for army service. The crux of this, as of so many of our problems, is in that difficulty of balancing the demand of the battlefields for man-power with that of a vital industry. It is a difficulty which for the moment is most with us as to coal, but it is heavy upon us also in other directions. And the War Office relents but little of its claim, with result, no doubt, of infinite value to our armies' strength and power, but with result, also, of great and growing difficulties at home.

Another London Strike.

Last week we were saddled with a 'bus strike, and we rode in the tubes. This week we have a tube strike, and we ride in the 'buses—by this time mercifully restored to our streets. The trouble is much the same in both cases. On the surface it is merely a refusal of the hundreds of women-workers on our transit systems to accept a lower wage rate or war bonus rate than that conceded to the men-workers their colleagues. But in reality it is far more than that, for it is the beginning of a women's revolt against a system of work and pay which differentiates them from the other sex only in one of its two facts. They do the same work, and they demand the same pay for it; and there can be no doubt that they are going to demand it more and more, so that this little trouble of the times will one day become a big problem demanding large views and a vast-spread change of custom and outlook. This week, however, it was no more than a tube strike. There were found to be available sufficient men to keep the tube trains going, but, for all that, many stations on all the London systems had to be closed, very often there were no lifts to hand, and passengers had to climb the long stairways of access to and from the depths of the train levels, and generally a considerable amount of inconvenience was loaded upon a vast community only just recovering from its 'bus trouble and all the similar difficulties launched thereby on London.

Cheerful Soldiers.

In these days, when one meets soldiers newly come from the Western front, one has no difficulty in measuring them as ever so much more cheerful than they used to be. They come from the heart of the affair, they know a great deal of detail of it which is not publicly known, and for many reasons, thus, they may be accepted as well informed. They were never so depressed, even in the worst days, as some of our gloomy guides and philosophers who live at home in perfect safety and yet seem always to take pleasure in viewing the inevitable reverses of war through telescopes. The soldier has had his moods of depression, but they always have been concerned with the probable duration of the war and never with its possibility of a German victory. Nowadays they are not worried even on the old score. They come from places where German troops are being harried as they have not been harried since the war began. They know what losses he has sustained, and how swift the man-power and material-power deficiency of the Allied armies is changing into overwhelming and final superiority. And, as in every other regard that superiority always existed, the soldier believes now, not only that victory is assured but that it cannot be so very far off.

"Little Bertha."

It is good news this of the capture by Australians of one of the long-distance guns that have been shelling Amiens. How the Parisians must rejoice to see the captured monster. We read of them as flocking to the Champ de Mars to see it as it lies there for them to see, and as cheering the detachment of Australian soldiers in charge of it. We are to have sight of it in London later on, but no Londoners can grasp as a Parisian can the significance of "Little Bertha." For the Parisian knows Amiens as one of the many French towns shattered by bombardment, and few Londoners have more than a vague idea of what that means. Moreover, the Parisian has his own "Big Bertha" in his mind's eye. The taking of this lesser giantess will immensely hearten him in respect of his own troubles.

THE LABOUR MARKET.

DEMANDS EXCEED SUPPLY.

That there is a dearth of labour in New South Wales to-day is clearly shown by the statistics of the State Labour exchanges. These institutions have experienced a considerable activity since the passage of the new Act regulating private employment agencies. Official figures supplied yesterday show that in April last there were 1541 applications for positions lodged with the State exchanges, while 1270 employers sought servants through the same source. That month 933 positions were filled. Last month, September, there were 1600 applications for positions by people out of work, while vacancies amounting to 3369 were registered by employers, and 1600 men and women were placed in employment. Since June last the demands of employers for labour has largely exceeded the number of men and women looking for work.

A comprehensive scheme of reorganisation of the State Labour exchanges, under the direction of Mr. Govers, has been entered upon. The system is being divided into six sections, namely mechanics and assistants, general labourers, women and domestic workers, boys, rural workers, returned soldiers, and professional and clerical workers. It is proposed to introduce a card index system in order mainly to keep a record of men who may have legitimate claims for unemployment insurance in the future.

GREAT FRENCH ADVANCE

HUNDING LINE

BROKEN THROUGH

FOE RETREATING

LONDON, Oct. 27.

The Australian Press Association states that the British advanced slightly north of the Scheldt, also along the high ground north of the Courtrai Canal. We are turning the enemy's position south of Valenciennes. The French are continuing their advance south of the Oise up the Peron Valley.

Mr. J. H. Perris, telegraphing from French Headquarters, states that Generals Debeney, Mangin, and Guillaumat have decisively beaten the Germans, though the latter employed considerable effectives and the German positions were covered by the Oise and the Serre. General Mangin has broken across the northern end of the marshes, capturing Vesles, Caumont and Tierremont, while the Fifth Army attacked 12 miles of the Hunding line, and has broken it to a depth of three miles, capturing St. Quentin-le-Petit, despite five successive wire fields, five ranges of trenches with machine-gun posts, and anti-tank minefields. The whole German defences in Northern Champagne are endangered. Over 5000 prisoners have been taken, though this is but the beginning of a great victory.

Mr. Duranty, of the "New York Times," telegraphing from the French front, says a gigantic battle continues with the utmost desperation. General Guilliamat's force continues its drive against the enemy, and is pounding the positions, which are protecting the German centre. The German defences include a quadruple trench system, five lines of barb wire, each 20 feet deep, and anti-tank mines are liberally sown throughout the terrain. Despite these defences General Guilliamat's troops broke through on a 16-kilometre front between St. Quentin-le-Petit and Herley. The Germans opposed the advance with a deluge of gas and high explosive shells. Large numbers of German soldiers have been sent home to suppress internal disturbances.

AMERICAN PROGRESS.

MONTH'S GREAT RECORD.

The correspondent of the "Daily Chronicle" at American headquarters states that the Americans during this month have inflicted 70,000 casualties on 33 German divisions, capturing [illegible],000 prisoners, and liberating 45 villages and 475 square kilometres of territory. They are already through three of the four organised trench systems, and are seriously threatening the Sedan-Montmedy trunk line. The American army is assisted by over 40,000 engineers, working day and night under intense artillery fire, making new roads and bridging thickets of barbed wire in the Argonne Forest which cannot be cut as they are stretched from tree to tree in hopeless confusion.

THE COMMUNIQUES.

SIR DOUGLAS HAIG.

SUNDAY, NOON.

The enemy on Saturday evening, after a heavy bombardment, delivered a strong and determined counter-attack against our positions on the railway, north-west of Le Quesnoy. We completely repulsed the attack with great enemy loss.

SUNDAY NIGHT.

Preceded by a heavy bombardment, the enemy counter-attacked this morning in the neighbourhood of Englefontaine, but was repulsed, and left many dead. Our positions remained intact. We repulsed with heavy loss another counter-attack in the neighbourhood of Artres. We took a few prisoners in patrol actions on different parts of the front.

FRENCH.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

During the night the First Army redoubled its efforts on the front between the Oise and the Serre. The enemy, shaken by yesterday's fighting, has given way along the whole line, and had to withdraw northwards, abandoning his positions. We captured Mount d'Origny, Origny St. Benoite, Courjumelles, Chevrisis-Monceau, also numerous fortified points d'appui, between these villages.

On our right our units crossed the Peron and made progress to the north-east. We captured Hill 117 and the sugar factory 1500 metres east of Richecourt. The number of prisoners has been further increased.

On the Serre front the Tenth Army, which is supporting the movement of the First Army, also made fresh gains. We crossed the Serre east of Assis, and penetrated the German trenches.

East of Sissonne a violent German counter-attack in the region of Marquigny Farm was shattered by our fire.

We captured over 2450 prisoners, including 51 officers between Sissonne and Chateau Porcien on Friday and Saturday.

SUNDAY, MIDNIGHT.

The enemy, pursued by our advance guards, continued his retreat between the Oise and the Serre, on a front exceeding 25 kilometres. Our advance to-day exceeded eight kilometres at certain points. We carried Boheries, Proix, and Macquigny, and pushed on to the outskirts of Guise. Farther south we are approaching the Guise-Marles road on the general line of Bertaignemont Wood, Landifay, Bertaignemont, west of Fontransy, Monceau-le-Neuf, and Montigny-sur-Crecy.

We have captured numerous prisoners and considerable material. The prisoners captured by the First Army since October 24 number 3700. The booty for the same period includes 20 guns and several hundreds of machine-guns.

The Tenth Army, co-operating with the First on the Serre front, is vigorously pushing the enemy northwards. We occupied Crecy-sur-Serre. The fighting of the last two days has obliged the enemy to abandon part of the Hunding position between Herpy and Recouvrance. We are following on the heels of the enemy.

JOY IN BRUGES.

KING ALBERT'S RETURN.

Mr. Philip Gibbs, correspondent of the "Daily Chronicle," gives a vivid account of the King and Queen of Belgium's State entry into Bruges. Prince Leopold wore the uniform of the Carabineers. Every soul in the city was in the streets. The windows and balconies of every house were beflagged, and the belfry rang out a carillon. After the review of the troops King Albert went to the Governor's house. The emotion of the populace broke all bounds. Tens of thousands surged round the tall figure, who stood at the salute.

The populace say, "The Germans never told us when a submarine was sunk, but we knew the commanders' names, also the dates of the trips. When a fortnight or a month passed and the men did not return we knew the British navy had sunk them." The murder of Captain Fryatt stirred the people of Bruges to cold fury. Admiral Schroeder hurried on the execution secretly, in order that there should be no opportunity for a reprieve.

ACROSS THE PIAVE.

OFFENSIVE GOES WELL.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

A British-Italian official message states: Under General Cavana's command, the Italian Tenth Army's attack across the Piave in the Grave di Papadopoli area was commenced at 6.45 this morning. The Italians on the right overcame strong resistance, while the British on the left, advancing satisfactorily, reached their first objective, also overcoming strong resistance.

The Australian Press Association learns that the Italian offensive is going well. Several important objectives have been captured. It is expected Austria's internal troubles will have a marked effect on the Italian, Albanian, and Danube fronts.

A later British-Italian official report states: The Tenth Army's attack met with considerable success. The Italians are advancing eastward of the river in touch with the British, who captured Tezze and Borgomalanott. Our prisoners during the day numbered over 2000.

BREAKING UP.

AUSTRIA-HUNGARY AND PEACE.

Count Tisza declares that the conclusion of a separate peace between the Entente and different nationalities in Austria-Hungary is only a matter of time.

A Zurich report says the Magyar National Council has proclaimed its supremacy. Count Karolyi, its president, is leading the movement. Hungarian youths are arming and organising for military purposes. Crowds parading Budapest demand a denunciation of the German alliance. The National Council has issued a manifesto recognising the Polish, South-Slav, Czechs, and Germano-Austrian states, demanding immediate peace, and the retirement of the Hungarian troops to Hungary, also an annulment of the Brest-Litovsk and Bucharest treaties.

This is regarded as the prelude to the break up of the dual monarchy.

Telegrams from Vienna state that it is publicly announced that preparations are being made to demobilise the Austro-Hungarian army. This statement is necessary owing to pressure of public opinion. The people are eagerly demanding peace. The news of the break up of Austria is having a most depressing effect in Berlin.

REVOLUTIONARY MOVEMENT.

Reports have reached Zurich that the revolutionary movement is spreading in Croatia and assuming Bolshevik characteristics. Many Magyars have been killed. The revolutionaries captured Delnice and Ogulin. Three hundred were killed in Zagabria, and over 400 in Fiume.

BRITISH ENTER ALEPPO.

TURKISH PEACE MOVE EXPECTED.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

A British official message from Syria states: Our advanced cavalry and armoured cars occupied Aleppo on Saturday morning after overcoming slight opposition.

The Australian Press Association learns that a force of 12,000 Turks, defending Aleppo last week, returned northward, our cavalry and armoured cars entering the town with little opposition. The cavalry ride was a splendid performance, and impossible at any other time of the year, because of the scarcity of water. An important strategical railway junction, six miles beyond Aleppo, constituting a vital artery in the Turks' line of communications with Mesopotamia, has not yet been captured. It is believed the Turks will not defend it. There is every likelihood that the Turkish Government will now sue for peace.

PURSUIT OF THE TURKS.

(FROM MR. W. T. MASSEY, SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT FOR THE AUSTRALIAN PRESS ASSOCIATION IN PALESTINE.)

PALESTINE, Oct. 27.

British and Indian cavalry occupied Aleppo yesterday morning. The Turks evacuated the city, burning the station and rolling stock. Cavalry and armoured cars are pursuing the rearguards.

MESOPOTAMIA.

ADVANCE ALONG TIGRIS.

A British official message from Mesopotamia says: We continue to pursue the Turks on both banks of the Tigris. We forced a passage over the Lesser Zab near its mouth in conjunction with the cavalry, which, after crossing further up-stream, turned the left flank of the Turkish force, holding the angle between the two rivers, and assisted the main body to drive the enemy across the Tigris to the west bank.

The enemy retreated four miles further up the river. Our patrols have entered the outskirts of Kerkuk. The Turks are strongly holding the high ground north of the town.

BRITISH AIRMEN ACTIVE.

Sir Douglas Haig, in his aviation report on Sunday night, says: We dropped 8½ tons of explosives on Saturday on important railway stations with excellent results. We destroyed eight, and drove down three enemy machines out of control. Nine British machines are missing.

Our night-fliers dropped three tons of bombs. All returned.

The Press Bureau announces that the independent force heavily attacked Frescaty aerodrome on Sunday. Bombs burst well on the target. All our machines returned.

PRISONERS MURDERED.

A message from New York states that Lieutenant Coningsby Dawson, of the Canadian Field Artillery, who has arrived from the front on sick leave, said that the commander and crew of a Canadian tank, which was captured by the Germans, were stripped and lashed to the sides of the tank. They were then bombed to death by the Huns.

OFFICIAL WAR REVIEW.

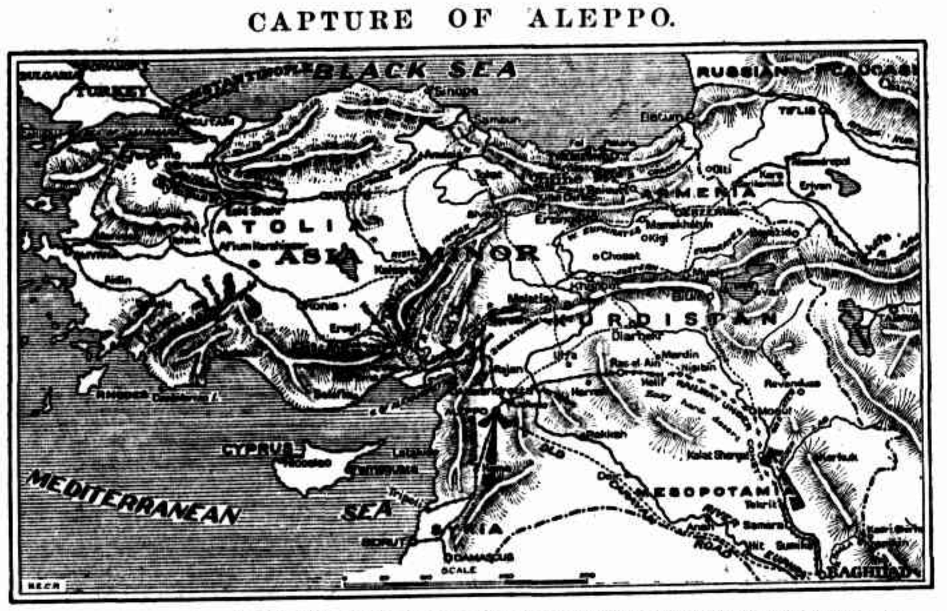
MELBOURNE, Monday.

The official war cable received by Mr. Watt to-day makes the following reference to Russia:—

"On the Volga front the Czech right wing has made some progress, but the Czechs left has been threatened by a turning movement by the Bolsheviks, and has been forced to fall back 50 miles east of the Kinel Junction, Cheliabins, and Tashkend. The railwaymen on the Trans-Siberian line have been giving trouble, and it was discovered that they were in collusion with the local Bolsheviks, while the Russian troops were powerless to restore order. This helps to show the vital need of strong Allied forces to secure the Czech communication in European Russia.

"In the trans-Caspian region complicated fighting has been taking place. We co-operated with the trans-Caspian forces, and captured Dushak, 200 miles east of the Caspian, driving off the Bolsheviks with heavy losses. Unfortunately, the trans-Caspian Allies are unreliable, and they did little or nothing in the attack. Then they promptly scattered after loot, so that when the Bolsheviks counter-attacked, all the fighting had to be done by our handful of Indian troops. Our troops suffered heavily, and were forced to fall back to Kaakha, but the Bolsheviks left a weakly guarded rear, and their rearguard was overwhelmed by the Turcomans. This, together with heavy losses at our hands, so upset them that they again evacuated Dushak, and withdrew to Tejend, in the greatest confusion, leaving behind them remarkable numbers of dead, and a quantity of burnt rolling stock."

CAPTURE OF ALEPPO.



The above map shows how the Allied capture of Aleppo threatens the enemy's communications with Mesopotamia, the junction of the Bagdad and Syrian railways, about six miles northward of Aleppo, being immediately threatened. The western black arrow shows the direction of the advance of Sir Edmund Allenby's cavalry, and the eastern arrow indicates the region in which the Allied armies in Mesopotamia are pressing the Turks there.

ANOTHER NOTE

ARMISTICE AGAIN ASKED FOR

IN NAME OF GERMAN PEOPLE

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.

Germany has replied to President Wilson, asking for an armistice in the name of the German people. Mr. Lloyd George has gone to France suddenly.

LONDON, Oct. 27.

A Copenhagen message says a short German Note in reply to President Wilson points out the changes in the German Constitution, and says that peace negotiations are being conducted by the people's Government, to which the military powers are subject, adding:—

"Germany now awaits proposals for an armistice introducing a peace of justice, such as is laid down in President Wilson's principles.

President Wilson knows the changes which have taken place in the German Constitution. Peace negotiations will be conducted by a people's Government, which is in possession of decisive authority, and controls the military authorities.

GOVERNMENT CONTROLS THE MILITARY COMMAND.

A Copenhagen report states that the Reichstag, amidst much excitement, passed, by a large majority, a bill placing the military command under the Government's control. The Conservatives and Militarists are deeply chagrined. The Liberals are prepared to meet any counter-action on their part.

According to messages from Amsterdam, "Vorwaerts" announces the following text of the German Reform Bill:—Clause I.: War can only be declared with the sanction of the Reichstag and Bundesrath. Clause II.: The Chancellor can only remain in power while he possesses the confidence of the Reichstag. Clause II.: The Chancellor will be responsible for the political actions of the Kaiser and the Ministry, and will be responsible for the tenure of their office to the Bundesrath and Reichstag. Clause IV.: The appointment, promotion, and dismissal of officers of the army and navy will only be effective by the Chancellor's signature, while the Minister for War will be responsible to the Reichstag.

ABDICATION POSSIBLE.

A message from Zurich states that the confederate princes will meet in Berlin on Wednesday to discuss the German Emperor's abdication.

An Amsterdam message reports that the ever-growing demand in Germany for the Emperor's abdication is the main topic of public conversation. The "Frankfurter Zeitung" says: "Although the Kaiser doubtless was actuated by the best intentions, nothing can alter the fact that during 30 years he has made himself the symbol of the old regime." The paper believed the greater part of the people would be grateful if the Emperor drew the obvious deductions from the radical changes in German policy. Germany has had more than enough of the old regime.

The "Arbeiter Zeitung" (Vienna) also demands abdication.

U-BOATS GOING HOME.

A Copenhagen message says that many German submarines flying the white flag have passed the Norwegian coast southward, apparently obeying the recall order.

SIGNIFICANT MOVE.

BRITISH MINISTERS GO TO PARIS.

The Press Bureau announces that Mr. Lloyd George (Prime Minister), Mr. A J. Balfour (Foreign Secretary), accompanied by naval and military officers, have proceeded to France.

DISASTER AT SEA.

VANCOUVER, Oct. 27.

The Princess Sophia, which was wrecked on a reef on the Alaskan coast, was bound south from Skagway. Nearly all on board were Alaskans. The vessel struck at 3 o'clock on Thursday morning, but it was impossible to transfer any of the passengers because of the gale, which continued until the vessel sank.

MENTAL HOSPITAL.

SEVERE CRITICISM BY CORONER

ADELAIDE, Sunday.

A large number of deaths have occurred at the Parkside Mental Hospital recently, and there have been a number of inquests. The City Coroner, Dr. Ramsay Smith, has on various occasions doubted the validity of the records kept at the institution, and at an inquest to-day on Joseph Hitchcox, who died at the hospital on October 22, the following verdict was returned:—"That the cause of death was due to colitis and exhaustion; that the deceased was illegally received into the hospital; that the deceased did not receive proper medical attention, but that the deceased received proper attention from the attendants; that the records at the hospital were most irregularly kept, and that the evidence of Doctor Lind, the acting superintendent of the hospital, was most unreliable, and that he was negligent in carrying out his duties."

DEATH OF CAPTAIN G. R. MANSON.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Captain G. R. Manson, who was well known in the Australian coastal shipping trade, died suddenly on Saturday night, while travelling by train from Melbourne to Williamstown. He was 58 years of age, and leaves a widow and family, who reside at Leichhardt, Sydney.

WAR NOTES.

ENEMY'S HEAVY COUNTER-ATTACKS.

Reports which had come to hand from the Western front at the time these notes were written last night showed that the British on the front between the Scheldt and the Sambre were being kept busy breaking up hostile counter-attacks. These have fallen along the front which was the scene of their recent attack, during the lull preceding the further development of the latest gains. These counter-attacks reveal the enemy's anxiety regarding the situation created by the British advance. The menace to Valenciennes from the south has not, however, been reduced as the result of these counter-strokes, and the danger of the Scheldt line being turned from this direction remains as serious as ever. Not the least determined of these counter-attacks was that directed against the sector of the Allied line which had advanced beyond and cut the important trunk line between Valenciennes and Le Quesnoy. The enemy's desire to clear this railway is not difficult to understand, as the line forms a most important link in his communications. While its loss does not cause any complete dislocation of his lines of supply, it compels him to use secondary and more circuitous routes. This throws a greater strain upon his rolling stock, the destruction of which has been one of the special tasks of the Allied airmen for years past. Apart from the recapture of the railway, however, a successful counter-attack here would have rendered more secure his grip on the eastern side of the Scheldt. His fear of the new Allied tanks is further revealed by his anxiety to prevent any move which threatens to force his retirement from a protecting canal or river.

BETWEEN THE OISE AND THE SERRE.

While the British on the north are threatening to turn the line of the Scheldt, the French farther southward have made excellent progress in turning the enemy's line on the sectors of the Oise and of the Serre. It was between these two rivers that his line bent eastward, forming a salient. Unlike the old Noyon salient or that which existed after the enemy's retirement to the Hindenburg line, there was no great natural fortress, like the St. Gobain massif, on which to support this salient. It was partly protected by the obstacle of the Oise on the north, and by that of the Serre on the south. The French, however, had secured a firm footing inside the angle formed by the two streams, and were able to bring direct pressure to bear against the nose of the salient. For some time past they have been mainly concerned in forcing the enemy to relinquish his hold on the eastern bank of the Oise and on the northern bank of the Serre. The capture of Mont Origny and of Origny St. Benoite means that the French have cleared the eastern bank of the Oise for a distance of over 13 miles to the northward of the point where it is joined by the Serre. On the southern side of the salient the French have cleared between eight and nine miles of the northern bank of the Serre. Here the small Peron stream, a tributary of the Serre, flowing down from the north-east, presented an additional obstacle, but this has now been crossed. The sector of the enemy's line between the Oise and the Serre, which is unprotected by a water obstacle, has, therefore, been considerably lengthened, and the late French communique shows that the advance has been much greater than that indicated above. If the French drive the enemy back sufficiently on this front they will render it difficult for the forces on his left to stand along the Aisne on either side of Rethel, or for those on his right to maintain their grip on the eastern side of the Oise-Sambre Canal.

VALUABLE GAINS IN ITALY.

News regarding operations on the Italian front has rarely been as explicit as could be desired, and we frequently have to wait for some time before learning the full details of an attack, either by the enemy or by the Allied forces. During the week-end Italian messages have made brief references to Allied attacks on both sides of the Brenta and along the Piave, but we have been given no indication of the extent of front affected. We are left to assume, however, that, as far as they have gone, the Allied attacks have not assumed the proportions of a general offensive. There is no sign that they have thrown in large concentrations of reserves in an effort to break the enemy's line. Their principal gains have been made in the mountainous sector on either side of the Brenta, and especially to the eastward of that stream. These include the recapture of Monte Pertica and other important heights, which may be regarded as bastions of the natural fortress of the Grappa massif. Yesterday's unofficial report of the capture of Monte Prassolan, well to the northward of Monte Grappa, has not yet been officially confirmed, but the communiques have disclosed sufficient to show that the Allied line between the Brenta and the Piave has been greatly strengthened. We may not be far wrong if we regard this as the main objective of the Allied attack, as the whole of their line along the Piave depends upon the stability of the mountain sector on both sides of the Brenta. This, however, will not prevent the Allies from pressing on through any weakness which may develop in the enemy's lines, as a serious military reverse at the present time would undoubtedly aggravate the unsettled internal conditions which exist in Austria. The significance of the Italian Tenth Army's attack along the Piave is not yet evident, although the capture of Tezze has carried the line well across the Piave below the Montello massif. It is interesting to note that British troops are operating on this sector, which is much farther eastward than they were supposed to have been since their transfer from the Montello massif to the mountain front below Asiago, where the main body still is.

FORGING AHEAD IN ASIA MINOR.

By its entry into Aleppo Sir Edmund Allenby's cavalry has crowned the great success achieved by the Allied forces in Palestine last month. It is the best proof we could have of the thorough nature of the defeat which the enemy suffered then on the front below Nablus. By eliminating the armed forces opposed to them on that occasion the Allies have been able to forge ahead for a distance of well over three hundred miles without encountering serious resistance. The extent of the disorganisation created by the destruction of the three Turkish armies in Palestine is shown by their inability to prepare a new defensive line covering a most important base so far beyond the point at which they suffered the reverse. A little over half a dozen miles to the northward of this base lies the junction of the Bagdad and Syrian railways; and, if the enemy fails to hold this, his main communication with Mesopotamia will be severed and his forces there compelled to fall back towards the Armenian mountains or to risk being isolated. The Allied forces in Mesopotamia are fully alive to the dangerous nature of the enemy's position there, and are accordingly bringing strong pressure to bear against him along the Tigris and along the road leading to Mosul by way of Kerkuk. In view of the rapid Allied advance in Syria, this move in Mesopotamia may have a more definite aim than those which were recently carried out along the Tigris and towards Mosul. The possibility of the Mesopotamian and Palestine forces effecting a junction is not now so remote, although the distance to be covered is still very great. If the whole of the Bagdad railway between its terminus and Aleppo was cleared, a great mass of mountainous country would lie ahead of the Allies, and the Turks would be able to offer serious resistance there, even with their greatly depleted forces. Nevertheless the position in Asia Minor is most satisfactory, and future developments will be awaited with special interest.

OUT-BACK BROTHERHOOD.

Bright, inspiring speeches, telling of life in the outer fringes of the State, of the heroism of the womenfolk, of the spiritual progress and development in those parts, and of the urgent call that there is upon the city for help to face the problems of pastoral ministrations in the more remote parts of the State, illumined the enthusiastic and largely attended public meeting in St. James's Hall last night of the Brotherhood of the Good Shepherd. His Excellency the Governor, who presided, was accompanied by Lady Davidson. An apology for the unavoidable absence of Archbishop Wright was announced.

His Excellency the Governor, in commending the work of the members of the Brotherhood, emphasised the necessity for making them independent of monetary anxieties.

The Bishop of Goulburn (Dr. Radford)—he described himself as a "bush bishop"—the principal of the Brotherhood (Rev. E. J. Hardy), and the Bishop of North Queensland (Dr. J. O. Feetham) unfolded to the audience various phases of the widely scattered work of the Brotherhood, and spoke of the greater tasks thrown upon the mission because of the many members of the Brotherhood who had enlisted. That the people in the bush, in the matter of spiritual ministrations, have strong claims upon the people of Sydney, was the dominant note voiced.

HOUSING PROBLEM.

BUILDERS' OPINIONS.

The inquiry into the question of house rents was continued yesterday, before Mr. A. B. Piddington, K.C., Chief Interstate Commissioner.

Senator John Grant placed before the Commissioner figures taken from the report of the Water and Sewerage Board relative to the number of buildings erected and completed wherever the water supply was available. He said that the figures were as follows:—1914, 9928 houses; 1915, 8838; 1916, 7357; 1917, 5966; 1918, up to June 30, 5042. These figures showed, as well as those gathered from other sources, that there was a decreasing number of houses erected, about 45 per cent. The main factors in the cost of erecting houses were labour, material, and land. The cost of labour in some cases had advanced. The tendency was upward in regard to the cost of materials. And there was a steady advance in the cost of timber ever since the South African war. Houses were just as scarce in Perth, Adelaide, and Melbourne and in inland towns of this State and other centres as they were in Sydney. The Fair Rents Act did not operate in those places. The abolition of slum areas had had the effect of increasing rents. When a municipality demolished such areas it should be obliged to provide an equal quantity of accommodation elsewhere. To suggest that the working man who earned £3 to £4 per week should purchase a house at £500 was simply tying a stone around that man's neck for the term of his natural life. And often the working man failed before the home was his own. Something should be done to erect cheap houses in great numbers.

William Frederick Foster, president of the Master Builders' Association of New South Wales, said that in 1913 oregon cost 17/6, and to-day 42/; plain glass for cottage work had increased by about 150 per cent. This referred to imported glass. Australian cement had increased from 12/6 to about 15/6; nails from 2d per lb to about 7½d per lb; lead 18/ and 20/ per cwt to 40/; galvanised iron £18 and £20 per ton to £50 per ton. There had been a rise in bricks of 5/ per 1000 since 1914.

Frederick Alderson, indent agent, said that he was puzzled when he saw that one witness stated that people would soon have to live in tents. He had owned 13 houses in Pyrmont, of which for over a year past there had always been five empty. He recently sold eight of these houses, and was glad to get rid of them at £300 less than they cost, but of the remaining five houses two had been empty for many months in spite of the fact that he had instructed the agent to lower the rents from 17/ to 13/. The properties were the usual terrace style of house, containing four rooms, kitchen, and washhouse.

H. W. Audsley, builder and contractor, said that there was a shortage of building trade labour.

David Elphinstone, master builder, stated that a great demand for properties up to the value of about £1000 existed amongst the middle classes.

N. Phelp Richards, secretary to the Master Builders' Association, said he estimated that in 1917 there had been a falling-off in building operations as compared with 1914 of about 60 per cent., chiefly in the big and expensive buildings.

Walter Gawne said that the cost of building had gone up since the outbreak of war by about 35 per cent.

George Parker Jones said that one cause of the increase of rentals was the better type of building which now had to be erected for the working class.

The inquiry was adjourned till this morning.

ANXIETY FOR SCHOONER.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Anxiety is being felt for the safety of the schooner Handa Isle, 275 tons gross register, which is 30 days out from Sydney on a voyage to Melbourne, carrying general cargo. She has not been sighted off any of the intervening coastal headland stations.

LATE WAR NEWS.

OISE-AISNE LINE.

GERMANS FORCED TO ABANDON.

LONDON, Oct. 28.

The French have forced the Germans to abandon the Oise-Aisne line.

MAN POWER.

ALLIED SUPERIORITY.

The "Morning Post's" correspondent on the French front states that the enemy on March 21 had 2,800,000 bayonets. Of those we have captured 400,000 and killed or seriously wounded 800,000, so that the Germans now have only 1,600,000, as compared with two million Allied bayonets on the Western front, to which America is adding a quarter of a million monthly.

SERVIA.

VIGOROUS PURSUIT.

A French Eastern communique states: Continuing their vigorous pursuit, despite desperate resistance by the enemy, the Servians reached the heights south of Kragujevatz on October 25, and the southern outskirts of Cuprija, in the Morava Valley. The retreating Austro-Germans are committing all kinds of atrocities.

HEAVY FIGHTING.

Mr. Philip Gibbs telegraphs: There has been continuous fighting north and south of Valenciennes since Friday. The First Army is closely investing the town. We have already taken over 10,000 prisoners and many guns.

It is evident that the enemy is being hustled in advance of his time-table of retreat, hence his fierce counter-attacks.

PROGRESS IN SYRIA.

The Aleppo railway junction has been captured.

AUSTRIA'S REPLY.

It is reported from Amsterdam that the Austrian reply to President Wilson accepts all conditions, and states she is ready to negotiate for an immediate armistice and peace.

HINDENBURG.

There are contradictory rumours in the German Press regarding the resignation of Hindenburg.

INFLUENZA PLAGUE.

LONDON, Oct. 28.

The influenza epidemic is world-wide. India, South Africa, Argentina, and Scandinavia report the prevalence of the plague. There have been 13,394 deaths in Bombay alone, and 1753 died in one week in Vienna. The supply of coffins in Vienna has been outrun, and some bodies were kept in ice for weeks and then buried in paper sacks.

Fifty-eight victims were picked up in the London streets on Saturday and Sunday. A thousand telephone operators are off duty. The East Ham Council has closed the elementary schools for a week, and forbidden children to attend cinemas. The shortage of quinine is causing anxiety.

EPIDEMIC IN SOUTH AFRICA.

CAPETOWN, Oct. 28.

An official statement estimates the deaths resulting from the epidemic in the Cape peninsula alone at 7400, of which 25 per cent. were Europeans. As the death roll at Kimberley is now nearly 5000, it is probable that the total mortality in the Union approximates 20,000. The epidemic everywhere is abating, except in Rhodesia, where it is at its height.

NIAGARA'S PASSENGERS.

The Niagara was released from quarantine yesterday morning after a thorough disinfection, and proceeded to No. 5 wharf, Darling Harbour, where she immediately commenced to discharge her cargo. Some of the Niagara's mails were delivered yesterday afternoon. It is expected that delivery of the whole of the city portion of the steamer's mails will be completed this morning.

Some of the crew were given their freedom yesterday. They were the men who contracted influenza during the voyage, and have recovered and been well for the specified seven days. It is expected that the passengers, with the exception of patients, will be released on Friday morning. The patients will have to remain in quarantine until they are well and their temperature has been normal for a period of seven days.

NURSING STAFF DEPLETED.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Monday.

Two more deaths from influenza have been reported from the Auckland Hospital. Twenty-eight nurses are off duty owing to the epidemic.

Nurse Crossing, the fourth victim of influenza on the Niagara, has died in the Auckland Hospital. She was a passenger from Vancouver on the way to visit her relations in Sydney. Nurse Crossing tended the sick who remained on the vessel, and she developed influenza with pneumonia complications.

OUTBREAK IN INDIA.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

The Federal quarantine authorities have received a cable message from India stating that the outbreak of influenza had been serious in that country, but that the epidemic was now subsiding in Bombay. The Director of Quarantine, Dr. Cumpston, said to-day that a satisfactory feature of the outbreak was that the measures adopted at Auckland had brought the epidemic on the Niagara to an end. The same measures were being used in Australia.

CHARON QUARANTINED.

PERTH (W.A.), Monday.

The Charon from Singapore, via Broome, arrived at Fremantle flying the yellow flag, and moored at the buoy. The cargo of bananas was discharged into lighters and fumigated, and the vessel then steamed to Owen's Anchorage, where she will remain in quarantine. Influenza on board was confined almost entirely to the Asiatic members of the crew, and it was of a mild character. There were two cases amongst the ship's officers, and two amongst the white passengers, but they are all now convalescent.

The Chief Quarantine Officer stated to-day that all the patients removed to Woodman's Point from the Charon were progressing satisfactorily, although two of the Asiatic members of the crew had had a severe attack.

PRICES OF COMMODITIES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

A Commonwealth "Gazette" issued to-day fixes the maximum wholesale price of benzine in Sydney and Newcastle at 25/ per case of eight gallons, and the retail price at 27/6, or 13/9 per tin of four gallons, and 3/6 per gallon for less than four gallons in other proclaimed areas. The cost of transportation from the nearest areas is to be added.

The maximum prices of olive oil in New South Wales have been fixed at the rates prevailing on May 18, plus 15 per cent.

The maximum price of bread in New South Wales, with the exception of the proclaimed Carrathool, Yerranderie, and Dorrigo areas, has been fixed at 4d per 2lb loaf, when purchased at shops or bakehouses, and paid for within the trade week; and 4½d when delivered and paid for within the trade week. An additional farthing may be added when the loaf is not paid for within the trade week.

LATE GUNNER EVATT.

A large congregation, including representatives of the University, the Faculty of Medicine, the University Company, the Union, Sports Union, and Undergraduates' Association, and of the masters and boys of Fort-street High School, attended the impressive service at St. John's Church of England, Milson's Point, on Sunday in memory of Gunner Frank Evatt. The rector, the Rev. W. Newby Fraser, in an address extolling Gunner Evatt, also referred to the death of his brother, Lieut. Ray Evatt, M.C., at Passchendaele, in 1917, after service in Gallipoli and France. Gunner Evatt, he said, had seen more than two years' service, and both the young men had established high credit in their country's cause.

STEELWORKS CONTRACT.

INQUIRY BY SHIPBUILDING TRIBUNAL.

NEWCASTLE, Monday.

Mr. M. Conington presided to-day at an inquiry into the steel works contract, the other members of the tribunal being Messrs. Duggan and Stokes.

An application was made on behalf of the Federated Enginedrivers' and Firemen's Association for preference in connection with the contracts carried out by the Broken Hill Proprietary Co., Ltd., at the steel works. Messrs. Pearce and Burns appeared respectively for the associations, and Messrs. Mitchell and M'Meekin for the Broken Hill Proprietary.

Mr. Mitchell referred to a statement that had appeared in the Press that the Broken Hill Proprietary Co. was paying 9s 3d, as against 10s 6d, the minimum wages under the Federal agreement. That, he said, was absolutely untrue, as no man had earned as low as 10s 6d a day, and every man had been able to earn in excess of any minimum. In reply to Mr. Conington, he said that they paid the highest award rates.

Mr. Conington: According to the company, the general manager was to judge as to whether the agreement should apply. The tribunal was of the opinion that it had the right to inquire as to where the agreement had been carried out in the letter and the spirit. The second question was whether the company had given preference to unions connected with the agreement. Would you consider that the agreement gives you the right to refuse to employ members of the organisation which are parties to the shipbuilding agreement?

Mr. M'Meekin: I don't know whether the company would be bound.

Mr. Mitchell: We have given preference to no one.

Mr. Duggan: I find it hard to believe that an agreement was made with the Broken Hill Company which practically nullified the whole of the agreements made by the Government with the unions.

Mr. Conington: The charge made is that the company failed to give preference to the ironworkers and Federal enginedrivers.

The hearing of the case was adjourned until to-morrow.

RECRUITING.

The official estimate of 484 men per week in New South Wales was exceeded last week. Of 785 volunteers 493 men were accepted. A start for this week was made with 15 accepted men on Sunday.

It is announced that Lieut. Keysor, V.C., and Corporal Bede Kenny, V.C., will be on the platform to-day at the 1 o'clock meeting in Martin-place. Lieut. Thomson, Lieut. Walker, Lieut. Wilson, Lieut. Godfrey, M.C., and Sergt. C. J. A. Moore will speak.

Lieut. Ross and staff will make an appeal for recruits at 12.30 to-day at Tooth's Brewery.

Lieut. Keysor, V.C., will be one of the speakers at the Voluntary Ballot Enlistment meeting in the Oddfellows' Hall, Newtown, to-morrow night.

VOLUNTARY BALLOT.

In connection with the Voluntary Ballot Enlistment scheme, the Minister for Recruiting stated yesterday that no ballot cards have been sent out to eligibles in this State. Some of the circulars and recruiting pamphlets which were sent in error through the post had been returned by men who are over age. It was impossible to avoid making mistakes.

"Our difficulties," Mr. Orchard went on to say, "have been greatest in closely populated metropolitan electorates, where many men change their residence. I hope that those to whom circular letters have been sent in error will return them promptly to the organising secretary of the recruiting committee, with a statement as to their ineligibility. I might now explain that one of the objects of forwarding the circular letter prior to the posting of the cards was to test the accuracy of our mailing lists."

FERRY PASSES.

CASE AGAINST MANLY ALDERMEN.

The hearing was continued yesterday at the Manly Police Court, before Mr. Payten, S.M., of the charge against seven aldermen of the Manly Council of having acted in the capacity of aldermen of that council while disqualified owing to having an interest in a lease between the council and the Port Jackson and Manly Ferry Company, consisting in holding free passes of the value of £4/6/8, to travel on the company's ferries throughout the year. The defendants were:—Arthur Thomas Keirle, Alfred Ralston, Ellison W. Quirk, George Dumbrell, Adam Ogilvy, James Kirk Purves, Francis W. Heaton. Mr. Watt and Mr. Ferguson (instructed by Mr. A. J. Macaulay) appeared for complainant, F. E. Barton Smith; Mr. Chubb (instructed by Mr. W. W. Smyth-King) for the whole of the aldermen. Mr. H. J. Aspinall watched the interests of the Port Jackson and Manly Ferry Company.

Francis Edward Barton-Smith, hotelkeeper, Manly, said that as president of the Manly and District Commercial and Progress Association he instituted proceedings against the Manly aldermen. Witness described what took place at various conferences with the council, and went on to say that Mr. J. Daley (of J. and J. Daley, tugowners) had made an offer to the council to carry all cargo to and from Manly and Sydney at existing rates.

Counsel for the defence produced two letters, written to the council by P. T. White (a former president of the Commercial and Progress Association) and P. Carew (hon. secretary of the association), in August and September of this year. Mr. White complained of the council's failure to carry out improvement schemes. Mr. Carew stated that if the council persisted in rejecting Daley Brothers' offer, and in ratifying the lease with the Port Jackson Company, involving an increase in cargo freights of 35 per cent., the Progress Association would place the whole position before the public.

John Daley, of the firm of J. and J. Daley, tugowners, said they were prepared to provide an efficient service on a three years' agreement with the vessel Koputal.

For the defence, Arthur Thomas Keirle said there was a great deal of trouble in 1916 when fixing up the lease with the Port Jackson Company, and several months were occupied in coming to an agreement. Witness at that time held a pass to travel by the Manly boats. The offer made by Daley Brothers to provide a cargo service was carefully and exhaustively considered. Several of the aldermen, including himself, inspected their boat, and concurred that it was unsuitable. Witness went on to refer to various disabilities which were likely to be associated with the service suggested by Daley Brothers.

Counsels' addresses had not finished when the Court adjourned till Monday next at 2.15 p.m.

BUSH FIRES.

DAMAGE IN THE SUBURBS.

Bush fires were reported in several parts of the suburbs again yesterday, and the firemen in the outlying districts had an anxious time. At Hornsby a large area was burning fiercely all day, and did considerable damage to property in the vicinity.

An area of close on a thousand acres was burnt at Peakhurst.

Outbreaks occurred at Punchbowl, Penshurst, and at many points along the North Shore line.

FIRES IN THE CITY.

Shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday morning an outbreak of fire occurred in Messrs. C. Barnes and Co.'s bacon factory, Liverpool-street, near Sussex-street, city.

Detachments of men from Headquarters Fire Station extinguished the outbreak after some damage had been done to two motor lorries and a quantity of bacon, eggs, and salt.

It is only a few weeks since portion of the same factory was destroyed by fire, and damage to the extent of about £2000 done.

A small outbreak also occurred on Sunday morning amongst some rubbish at the rear of the same place.

Shortly before 9.30 last night a fire occurred in a milliner's shop occupied by Madame Rose, 102 Liverpool-street, city. The flames had secured a strong hold of the building when a detachment of men from Headquarters Fire Station arrived on the scene. Fortunately a good supply of water was in close proximity to the shop, and this, coupled with the speedy efforts of the firemen, resulted in the blaze being extinguished before the flames spread to the first floor of the structure. The ground floor of the shop and its contents were severely damaged.

MEAT SCHEME.

THE PRODUCERS' VIEWS.

Mr. James Kidd, vice-president of the Producers' Association's central council, questioned yesterday regarding the Government meat scheme, said:—"The producers of meat in this State have as great a right as anyone to claim a direct and personal interest in the charges attaching to the placing of the article in the hands of the consumer; the smaller those charges are the better it will be for everyone. The producers have for a long time been concerned with the growing weight of those charges and what can be done to lessen them. Much has been said from time to time about the serious effect of the heavy over-capitalisation of the new abattoirs on the question at issue, but, notwithstanding the inquiries of Trade and Royal Commissioners, the relief which was looked for is still awaited. It was fitting, therefore, that the Government should consult with the representatives of the producers as to the merits of the scheme they have proposed, with a view to overcoming the burden that is felt. The producers' central council, representing, as it does, the leaders of all the associations formed for the purpose of protecting the interests of the stockowners and farmers, was specially called into being about a year ago for the express purpose of dealing with questions such as the one now under consideration and so that they would speak with one voice on all important questions affecting the man on the land. When, therefore, the Government wisely asked the council to confer with it as to the likelihood or not of the success of the scheme it was well advised. The council addressed themselves to the consideration of the scheme with a strong sense of their responsibility for their judgment and verdict. The conclusion they came to was that the scheme was wrong in principle, and, even if put into operation, would not achieve the object the Government had in view. They regard the principle of Government interference in industrial enterprise as unsound, and as tending to contract rather than expand the industrial life of the community. They had regard also to the pronounced policy of the country at the last elections against such interference. They felt that such a scheme if put into operation would be the thin edge of the wedge leading to the nationalisation of all the industries connected with the trade, and that the displacement of men with a lifelong experience by Government servants would not tend to a better state of affairs, but to a worse. The exceptions are few where Government, either here or elsewhere, has entered into competition with private enterprise and been successful. They felt also that the Government was not looking in the right direction for the cause of the trouble, and that the proposed cure would, if applied, turn out to be a dangerous patchwork. When the Federal Government set themselves to provide us with cheap meat the cry was that the unscrupulous and greedy graziers were holding back supplies, being dissatisfied with market prices. This idea having subsequently become exploded, another reason was looked for as the cause of the trouble, and the State Government pitched upon the middlemen and their charges as the chief evil. In this it was nearly as wrong in its conclusion as the Federal Government. The abattoirs muddle, among other things, gave it some modicum of reason for its contention, but the true cause, viz., the war and consequent war prices, has not been sufficiently weighed in the consideration. Meat, the price of which has been heavily affected by the war, is a necessity, but what about all the other necessaries of life—boots, clothing, tobacco (if such can be called a necessity), and such like? Are we to bring in socialistic schemes of nationalisation to correct the economic upset which has taken place in all these? We have not yet arrived at a general nationalisation of industry, nor are we likely to, and the sooner we realise the dangers of patchwork meddling with the eternal law of supply and demand the better, for the more we tinker with it the deeper we shall get into the mud, and the bigger will be the effort required to extricate ourselves. Here, by the way, we might refer to another necessary, viz., housing, in connection with which the tinkering with economic laws affords us a speaking object lesson. What has been the effect of the Fair Rents Bill designed to give housing at cheaper rates? It has dried up building enterprise to such an extent that we are now told there are nothing like sufficient houses for the people to reside in—an evil which is likely to get worse rather than better under present conditions.

"The meat trouble has come upon us because of the heavy war demands, leading to increasing scarcity and higher prices. Through the lure of big prices, graziers were led to anticipate their harvest two or three seasons ahead, and sold off young stock, which under ordinary conditions would have been kept for fattening as the years rotated. What else could happen than that there would be short supplies to follow, and this is not an evil of to-day—it may last for some considerable time yet, and unhappily we are again faced with a very threatening drought, which, if not soon relieved, will assuredly intensify the trouble. The very threatening climatic conditions have driven prematurely into the market lately for sale stock that would not otherwise have been sent there, hence the temporary easing of prices, but all this tends to scarcity later. It has to be borne in mind that what has caused high prices in one direction has also caused corresponding high prices in almost all others. It is just as reasonable to scheme for relief in one direction as it is in another, and the old and infallible law of supply and demand will ever be found, we believe, a far better regulator of markets, if left alone, than any standards that politicians can set up.

"Everthing depends on the producer doing his utmost in the immediate future, and Governments would be well advised to sweep away all unnecessary barriers to this end as soon as possible, rather than try to create new ones. If they will keep this in view, and at the same time study every reasonable economy in their administration they are more likely to serve their party and the country well than by applying themselves to fight against established economic laws, which cannot be upset with impunity. If the Government will seriously tackle—as is confidently believed it will—the question of writing down to a sound working basis the over-capitalisation of the abattoirs scheme, it will be doing good and statesmanlike work, which will bring it more credit than any schemes to set right industrial enterprises that may from unpreventable causes appear to be temporarily out of joint. The council appreciate the desire of the Government to see waste eliminated, wherever it may exist, in connection with the meat trade, and have promised it that they will carefully look into all avenues of expenditure with a view to, if possible, lightening the burden both for the consumer and the producer; but it is useless to hope, as some think, for the elimination of the middleman. He must remain, in some form or other. A grazier cannot come to town every time he sends stock to market to see it safely through all processes until it gets into the hands of the distributor; the choice is, therefore, between the experienced and professional middleman and the Government middleman, with all his attendant handicaps, which, as experience proves, are anything but small."

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—It is a common saying that Government excursions into trade and commerce always end in failure. Few will deny this statement, some will attempt to argue against it, but its truth is generally accepted. There have been so many instances of failure by all Governments that have attempted to manufacture and trade that one is forced to the conclusion that there is a fundamental reason for it. Special reasons may exist for failure in certain cases. The fact, however, that all Government enterprises in trade are either outright failures or very modified successes, point undoubtedly to one common cause. What is that cause, and can it be removed or counteracted? Experience has shown that many private firms which have been great successes while in the hands of principals have not done so well after having been converted into limited companies; and the reason accepted for this is that management by boards of directors is not so effective as management by principals. It is beside the mark to say that some concerns can only be run as companies. That is generally a matter of capital, and does not affect this argument. Again, why is this so? A business man would most likely answer, that while a concern is under the management of men directly interested it will have their close and personal attention. Amplified this means that out of their own pockets they must pay for their failures, and into their pockets go the fruits of success. From this we gather that direct personal interest makes for success, and the absence of it for failure; and this is the fundamental cause for Government failures. No one running a Government concern is directly interested in results. There are, of course, many other causes contributing to the general failure, such as political interference, red tapeism, etc., but all this disappears when direct personal interest is at the helm.

If the argument used here is good, how are we going to remove the difficulty with Government concerns? My answer is, not at all. Let Governments govern, and traders trade—the cobbler to his last every time. The Government has quite enough to do when confined to its own functions. At one time Governments were judged by their general administration, roads, bridges, etc. Buckle, in his "History of Civilisation," said that the best Governments England had were those that repealed the most laws, and further those that interfered least, and the principle still holds good. No one denies that a Government should interfere when a gross injustice is being perpetrated on the community, but this does not affect the principle that Governments should restrict their energies to governing and leave trade, etc., alone.

I.W.W. INQUIRY.

Mr. Windeyer, K.C., appearing for Messrs. T. Mutch and P. Brookfield, Ms.L.A., and Mr. E. E. Judd, at the inquiry which Mr. Justice Street is holding into the conduct of the police in connection with the I.W.W. fire cases in 1916, concluded his review of the evidence, which he commenced on Wednesday last, at 11.15 a.m. yesterday. In closing his address, Mr. Windeyer said that if anything in the nature of a conspiracy had taken place, no legal task was more important than that which set out to establish that a mistake had been made. The evidence given at the trial of the men had, he urged, been proved to contain so many discrepancies that he was justified in asking his Honor to decide that the cause of justice required further investigation in the interests of the men in gaol.

Mr. Shand, K.C., appearing for the Crown and the police, in opening his address, submitted that in coming to his decision his Honor would deal with hearsay evidence, which was voluminous, in the same manner as it would be dealt with in other courts, and subject it to the most rigid tests. The immediate matter before the commission was whether the police were guilty of the misconduct charged against them in Parliament, and in the documents presented to the commission. The police were charged with perjuring themselves, and with the subornation of certain witnesses in connection with the trial. Accusations of that character were undoubtedly serious, and it was absolutely necessary that they should be supported by evidence that could be relied upon. He urged that from the start to the finish there was not a tittle of evidence that could be relied upon and charged against the police individually. There were only two instances which might be construed into anything wrong. There was a suggestion that Acting Superintendent Walker, according to Scully, said it would be worth something to work up the case. Scully had also said that Pauling had spoken of "dirty work." Apart from these two instances there was nothing in the evidence alleging anything wrong with the actions of the police. Scully, he maintained, came into the case surrounded by a suspicion that he realised the game was up, and that it was only a matter of time when he would be implicated; but he could not have had any motive in implicating anybody else. Goldstein appeared in the matter after Scully had seen Judd, and it was singular that though Scully alleged he had talked the case over with Goldstein months previously, he did not mention to Judd what Goldstein had said until about three weeks after he had seen Judd in the early part of March. Scully and Goldstein left Judd's house together, after the first interview, and in view of the evidence as to what was discussed between the three on that occasion he suggested that Scully and Goldstein had put their heads together after leaving Judd. He also submitted that, for some reason that could not be explained, M'Allister and Scully had also had their heads together, if Scully's evidence was correct. But he contended that M'Allister had not said the things that Scully attributed to him, but should be treated as a man who assisted the police with reliable information.

The inquiry was adjourned until this morning.

DIED OF WOUNDS.

News was received on Wednesday from the Canadian military of the death in France from wounds of Sergeant Eric Mackay Sullivan, M.M., son of Mr. Stephen Sullivan, proprietor of the Wagga "Daily Advertiser." By the last English mail, which was delivered a day or so before the cable message was received, the deceased soldier informed his parents that he had been awarded the Military Medal. Sergeant Sullivan was educated at the Sydney Church of England Grammar School, and he was a prominent athlete. He stroked the school crew when they won the championship, was captain of the first football fifteen, and he played with the school first cricket eleven. Sergeant Sullivan held a lieutenant's commission in the old second infantry regiment, which he resigned in order to serve with the New South Wales forces as a sergeant in the South African campaign. Being in America when war was declared, Sergeant Sullivan enlisted with the Canadian Highlanders and he won his stripes on the field. He was a nephew of Mr. S. W. Mackay, of the "Sydney Morning Herald" literary staff.

A cable message received this week by Mr. Oliver Hore, Bowna, announced the death from wounds of his son, Major Robert Hore, D.S.O., formerly of Albury. He was prior to enlistment an auctioneer on the staff of Messrs. Dalgety and Co. He gained the D.S.O. in France a year ago, and had previously been mentioned in despatches on more than one occasion. He was 32 years of age. Major Hore's wife died a few years ago, leaving one little son. Two brothers are still on active service, and a third has recently been invalided home.

COURT-MARTIAL.

Major Algernon Reginald Pegus Cross, of the Royal Australian Garrison Artillery, appeared before a General Court-martial at the Victoria Barracks yesterday. The Court consisted of Colonel J. Lamrock, C.B. (president), Lieut.-Colonels J. E. Robertson and E. Veldham, and Majors S. J. Shillington and H. G. Davey. Lieut.-Colonel V. le Gay Brereton was Judge-Advocate, and Major Bowie Wilson was prosecutor. Major Cross, who pleaded not guilty, was represented by Mr. Bignold (instructed by Messrs. White and Manion).

It was noted on the records that Major Cross, having been called upon under the Defence Act to show cause why his commission should not be cancelled, requested to be tried by court-martial.

There were two charges against Major Cross of knowingly making false statements in documents signed by him requisitioning kerosene and benzine; and two alternative charges of neglect to the prejudice of good order and military discipline by negligently signing orders without ascertaining their contents. There were also two other charges of neglect to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, and one of introducing Bombardier Wedd on board the motor boat Heather to Mr. Measures, a prospective purchaser of the boat, as Mr. Rennie, the agent for the sale of the boat.

Mr. Bignold contended that in respect of certain of the charges Major Cross had been found not guilty by civil authority, and so the present Court had no jurisdiction.

The point was overruled. Evidence was given by Bombardier Wedd.

The Court will sit again to-day.

MONARO BY-ELECTION.

COOMA, Monday.

A conference will be held at Cooma on Thursday to select a National candidate for the Monaro by-election, nominations for which close to-morrow. A ballot will be held if time permits, otherwise the central executive will make a selection.

A meeting of the Returned Soldiers' and Citizens' Political Federation last night definitely decided to run a candidate for the Monaro by-election. Four candidates gave in their names. The final selection will be made after consultation with the branch in the electorate itself. Lieut. E. Cortis and others are leaving for that district almost immediately. A considerable sum was subscribed for election expenses in the room, and great enthusiasm was shown by all present.

BIRDS IN CENTENNIAL PARK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—I saw it stated recently that there were some 50,000 bird-lovers enrolled in this State. Frequent visits to the Centennial Park convince me that the controllers of the arboreal and horticultural effects there are not enrolled. During the past five or six years there has been a cutting out of the native shrubs, and a corresponding banishment of several species of the honey-eaters once so plentiful there, and useful, as, despite their name, these birds are insectivorous. Several clumps of sugar gums and wattles that took years to grow have been uprooted and replaced by annuals of the lily family, very pleasing to the eye until the first south or west wind lays them low, but absolutely useless as a bird-encourager. Around the lakelets some score or more of pine trees that had grown well in the past 30 years have been cut down. The stumps, some 2ft high, are now topped with board seats, too low for the average adult, and in too exposed positions for either cold or hot weather if meant for seats. Some two acres, for years noted as a collection of indigenous grasses and shrubs, and literally teeming with native birds, has now been turned into a sand patch, with a few sprigs of variegated grasses and what looks like the nucleus of a chrysanthemum garden. The birds are gone. The latest vandalism is to be noted in what is known as the water lily pond, where presumably for spectacular effects the clumps of papyrii have been cut out to a few fronds. For years these clumps were the breeding places of that sweet singer the reed warbler, a visitor from the north, to be heard in the park from September till February. I heard a few amongst the bulrushes in other pools to-day, but it is quite possible that the park labourers will be put on, as in past years, to weed the pools of these, to the further banishment of the warblers and any other sub-aquatic dwellers that tend to bring the call of the wild to the heart of a great city. One can hardly believe that the park controllers are ignorant of the value of bird-life amongst their flowers. Do they never note the writings of Sherrie and Sorensen in your columns? If it is a matter of indifference to them, then I trust that Sir J. H. Carruthers or some other of our public men will move in the matter ere it is too late. As compared to birds, flowers, however gorgeous, are mute, inglorious things.

I am, etc.,

TANK IN ACTION.

SPECIAL DAY FOR CHILDREN.

At Victoria Park Racecourse this afternoon the tank will again go through its war exercises. The Motor Traders' Association has arranged that this afternoon the children attending the schools on the northern side of the harbour shall have a half-holiday to enable them to see the monster in action, and special facilities are being provided for their transportation to the scene of the display. A frequent service of trams will run from Circular Quay and the Central Station to convey passengers to the grounds, commencing at 1 o'clock.

MONETARY AND COMMERCIAL.

STOCKS AND SHARES.

A very quiet but steady market prevailed for investment scrip on the Stock Exchange yesterday.

FINANCIAL.

WAR LOAN OVER-SUBSCRIBED.

That the seventh war loan has been over-subscribed is a good augury for future issues. Mr. Watt has announced a subscription of £41,219,410, and further advices are expected to bring the total to quite £42,000,000. New South Wales is almost a million below her quota. All the other States have raised more than their quotas. The number of subscribers is 211,678, compared with 143,748 subscribers to the sixth war loan. The subscription to the sixth war loan was £43,851,960.

PUBLICITY IN WAR.

The United States is fighting its part in the war with a great deal of publicity. It is not afraid of letting it be known how many troops it is sending against Germany. In the same way it does not hide its regulations in "Government Gazettes" among a lot of matter which has nothing to do with the war, or if it has to do with the war, has nothing to do with regulations. That Government recognises that although by reason of the war it is compelled to make the way of the trader difficult, there is no need to make the way more difficult than is necessary, and that it should do all in its power to bring under the notice of the trader the path in which he should tread. So it issues at intervals a "War Trade Board Journal" containing official rulings and announcements of the board and its bureaus. One before us is No. 13, issued in September of this year. It contains the revised procedure for licensing shipments for exportation, regulations governing imports of various articles, specimens of various forms, and the export conservation list. A table of contents facilitates reference.

COMMISSION ON £10 WAR BONDS.

Members of the Sydney Stock Exchange charge a selling commission of 1/ on the sale of each £10 war bond, and if the buyer buys through a different broker to the seller the buyer also pays a commission of 1/. This is not the case with Melbourne stockbrokers, who charge only a selling commission of 1/ for each £10 bond negotiated. Apparently that commission is divided between the selling and the buying broker, as is the case with members of each Exchange in the sale of the bonds of larger denomination.

WICKHAM AND BULLOCK ISLAND COAL.

The half-yearly report of the above company for the six months ended September 30 shows that a net profit of £5750 was made. The directors have declared the usual dividend at the rate of 12½ per cent. per annum on the preference shares, amounting to £1250, and a dividend at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum on the ordinary shares, absorbing £4500. The transfer to the company of the Kalingo mine is nearing completion. The following comparison may be made:—

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

The market for fencing wire continues to weaken. Yesterday galvanised wire was almost £1 a ton cheaper. No. 8 was offered at £54, No. 10 at £58, and No. 12 at £60. Fair stocks of Melbourne manufactured black wire were available. Sales of No. 8 were made at £50, and of No. 10 at £53 a ton. There was no change in the position of barbed wire. Only a few small lots of imported 12-gauge were to be had at £55 a ton. Wire nails were scarce, but the basis price of 51/9 per cwt. for case lots of sizes 0 to 7 was unaltered. There was a brisk demand for bar iron at from £30 to £40 a ton, according to size and shape. The basis price of shoeing steel was steady at £31. Angle-iron was quoted at £35, and tees at £35/10/. Sheet lead moved out freely in full rolls at £40 a ton, and £45 was paid for lead piping in coils. Holders of galvanised roofing screws again refused to sell case lots under 1/9 per pound. I.W. screws were good property at 32½ per cent. on list price. Kelly's axes were again held for 112/, but T.U.S. sheep shears are offered at 100/. Explosives were quiet.

No little concern is shown by jute merchants and distributors of cornsacks at the attitude taken by many farmers and others in respect to contracts entered into for the supply of cornsacks. Merchants contracted for certain quantities, and as it is clearly understood that the Government will not entertain any cancellation relating to such contracts, those who have bought from the merchants must expect to be dealt with likewise. The opposite view, however, seems to be taken by the consumers in both New South Wales and Victoria. The Melbourne "Argus" records several instances where country storekeepers expected the seller to cancel the surplus, quite regardless of the fact that this would in all probability mean a loss to the seller. Those buyers who find themselves with more cornsacks than they need should realise that they have to share the burden, and not look upon the sellers to carry their burden.

LINSEED OIL PRICES.

MELBOURNE, Monday.

Amended prices for linseed oil are as follow:—

Manufactured to wholesaler, in cases or casks, at the rate of 7/ per gallon; in drums, 8/ per gallon; wholesaler to retailer, plus 12½ per cent.; retail, plus 20 per cent. on retailer's cost. Boiled, plus 2d per gallon on above prices. In all instances actual cost of transportation may be added.

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

HOMEBUSH STOCK SALES.

SHEEP.

MARKET MORE BUOYANT.

There was a penning yesterday at Homebush of 34,674 sheep and lambs, from 158 owners, representative of the sheep-rearing centres of the State. The offering comprised all classes of sheep in both the merino and crossbred sections. There was a large number of woolly sheep in the pens, but the shorn class preponderated. There were only two consignments of over 1000 in each, the balance of the offering comprised lots of from 90 to 600, mostly about two trucks in each consignment. Considering the dry weather in many portions of the country, the sheep were in good condition, especially those from the southern districts, where the dry weather has not been so much felt. The attendance of buyers was quite up to the average, and all sections of the trade were represented. The market was a little irregular in places, but it was generally firmer, and was in sellers' favour, odd sales showing a rise of 1/. There was a big improvement in the demand for lambs and the fall reported last week was practically recovered. The highest price for cross wethers was 44/1, for a line of 146 sold by Badgery Bros. on behalf of White, Ltd., of Holbrook. They averaged 40/. The best price for cross ewes was 42/7, for a consignment from the executors of J. Campbell, of Widgiewa. They were sold by Wilkinson and Lavender. The top figure for merino wethers was 43/10 for a small pen sold by Harrison, Jones, and Devlin, on behalf of W. Dalgleish, of Morundah. Dalgety and Co. sold the best merino ewes at 41/10. They came from Scott Bros., of Bethungra.

Among the principal sales were the following:—From Scott Bros., of Bethungra, e to 41/10; from J. Sewington, of Tranquinty, shorn x w to 31/; from J. W. Brumley, of Trangie, shorn x w to 30/1; from A. C. Weincke, of Milvale, x e to 35/7; from P. H. Thomas, of West Wyalong, shorn x e to 31/4; from Angard, Ltd., x h to 30/4; from J. A. Quotations: Crossbred wethers, prime to 34/, best 44/1, good to 26/; crossbred ewes, prime to 31/, best to 42/7, good to 29/; merino, prime wethers to 30/, best to 43/10, good to 28/; ewes, prime to 30/, odd lots higher.

CATTLE.

A DEARER MARKET.

There was a yarding of 1227 cattle from 52 owners. Nearly 100 head of the cattle came from Queensland. They were mostly heavy Queensland bullocks in fine order, with a fair sprinkling of prime heavy cows. But the offering as a whole was composed of all classes of cattle, which were in good condition and sold well. There was a big attendance of buyers, every section of the trade being full represented. Competition was buoyant, and the market generally was from 15/ to 30/ dearer than on last sale day. The improvement, however, was not so pronounced in the case of very heavy cattle, but medium-weight prime cattle was in excellent demand at ruling prices of a week ago. The best line of bullocks and cows came from S. Kidman, of Queensland. These were 47 bullocks, which brought to £28/16/, and averaged £26/2/6, while 37 cows made to £22/1/, and averaged £20/4/3.

Among the principal sales were the following:—From F. R. Sides, of Narrandera, 30 blks to £21/9/, avg £19/17/1; from S. Kidman, of Bourke, 47 blks to £28/16/, avg £26/2/6, and 37 cows to £22/1/, avg £20/4/3; from A. A. Company, of Willow Tree, 27 blks to £23/16/, avg £22/17/3; from W. J. Simpson, of Cooma, blks to £22/16/; from G. Britt, of Welbrigle, cows to £17/11/; from C. O'Brien, of Morundah, 47 blks to £22/17/, avg £21/1/; from W. Simpson, of Wilbrigie, 71 steers to £18/6, avg £17/13/9; from Dungar Bros., of Warialda, 80 blks to £18/17/, avg £16/9/4; from Plaskett Pastoral Company, of Wilrigvie, 50 steers to £19/6/, avg £18/3/3; from E. M. Field, of Coolabah, 12 blks to £22/8/, avg £15/16/2; from J. J. Leahy, of Brilbaree, 48 blks to £23/6/, avg £21/10/9; from F. C. Futter, of Harden, 20 blks to £20/3/6, avg £19/9/9.

Quotations:—Prime heavy bullocks to £22, odd animals to £28/16/; prime medium-weight to £18; prime light to about £16; trade bullocks from £10 to £14, according to weight. Cows: Prime heavy to about £12, odd beasts to £22/1/; good to about £11.

HOMEBUSH STOCK TRUCKINGS.

LIEUT. DEMPSEY, O.B.E.

LITHGOW, Monday.

The Rev. Father Dempsey, of Lithgow, has received an extract from the "London Gazette" that his brother, Lieut. C. T. Dempsey, has been made a member of the Order of the British Empire "for very distinguished services in connection with the war." The honour was contained in the King's birthday list. Lieut. Dempsey enlisted in February, 1915, and he saw much service in Gallipoli and France. Later, as acting captain, he was transport officer at the Waterloo Station, London. He had previously been mentioned in despatches for gallantry at the front. He returned to Australia a few weeks ago.

MINING.

The recurrence of news bearing on the subject of an armistice and peace overtures supervened on the quiet Monday market in mining shares on the Stock Exchange yesterday, and prices for the leading stocks displayed some depression, though business was very limited. British fell to 44/ at midday, and "Hills" closed down at 60/6. Junction North and Junctions each eased a few pence to 13/ and 7/3 respectively. Tin stocks held fairly well. Vegetable Creek fluttered in the vicinity of 11/, and finished /3 higher at 11/3. Pond's Creek recovered /3 to 5/8, but Carpathias reacted 2/ to 20/. Kampong commanded firm prices on the strength of the announcements in the half-yearly report; but Trong and Tongkah Compound were easier. An easier tendency characterised operations in Westonias. Consols were quoted appreciably lower on the announcement by telegram that the shaft timbers were bulging owing to the ground swelling. The manager stated that if attended to now it would save delays later, and intimated that he was cleaning up the mill yesterday. Centrals figured at 21/3, and Deeps languished to 15/10½. Among copper stocks Mt. Lyell improved to 29/3, but Cuthberts eased to 6/9.

STOCK EXCHANGE SALES.

The following mining sales were listed:—

Copper: Mount Cuthbert, 6/9; Mount Lyell, 29/3.

NOTES.

The Hampden-Cloncurry Copper Mines, Ltd., has declared a dividend (the twelfth) of 2/ per share, payable on November 29, to shareholders registered on November 9. This distribution marks the Hampden Company's return to the dividend paying list after an absence of some 18 months, occasioned chiefly by the heavy amounts involved in financing its copper production. The last distribution was 1/ per share, on June 14, 1917.

During last week the North Broken Hill, Limited's plant treated 3250 tons of crude ore, assaying 15.7 per cent. lead, 8.4oz silver, and 12.3 per cent. zinc, producing 630 tons of concentrates, assaying 65.5 per cent. lead, 26.4oz silver, and 6.6 per cent. zinc.

The Kamunting dredge ran 646 hours during the month of August, and recovered 11.9 tons of tin oxide from 49,368 cubic yards.

During the period from September 11 to October 9, the Broken Hill Proprietary Block 10 mill treated 2.98 tons of Block 10 ore and 2.55 tons of Block 14 ore, total 4693 tons, producing 543 tons of lead concentrates, assaying 40.5oz silver per ton, 63.1 per cent. lead, and 7.1 per cent. zinc, also 881 tons zinc concentrates, assaying 12oz silver per ton, 5.2 per cent. lead, and 47.2 per cent. zinc.

SURF-BATHER ROBBED.

William Donnelly, of Park-road, Marrickville, went into the surf at Manly on Sunday afternoon, leaving £33 and two diamond rings, valued at £27, in a kit bag in an open locker in the dressing sheds at South Steyne. When he returned from the water he discovered that the bag had been cut open and the money and valuables taken.

AMUSEMENTS.

LOCAL PHOTO-PLAY—"£500 REWARD."

Messrs. Barry Lupino and Claude Flemming invited a large circle of people specially interested in film production to witness the initial screening of "£500 Reward" at the Tivoli Theatre on Friday afternoon. Mr. Flemming devised the scenario, produced it, and acted the chief character, the heroine being Renee Adoree, the graceful partner in the Magley dances, who thus showed ability as a photo-actress. Frequent changes of well-contrasted scenes in various parts of the world bore witness to the author's experience in film matters, and, as a matter of fact, he was also the producer of "The Lure of the Bush." The spectators followed the new story from the Rocky Mountains to Seattle, and the hero and heroine were shipwrecked under thrilling circumstances whilst crossing the Pacific before reaching Queensland and Sydney. The film included also the first representation in Australia of the snows of Mount Kosciusko, and in other ways justified the applause of the audience. "£500 Reward" will be released two or three weeks hence.

JACK'S DAY CONCERT.

The International Mandolin Club, under Signor Panzetta's direction, agreeably opened the concert at King's Hall last night in aid of Jack's Day. There were two or three absentees from the programme but these artists were replaced, and in the result a capital entertainment was contributed by Misses White, Phyllis Hazel, Gladys Gordon, Verra Latcham, Minnie Hooper's hornpipe girls, Messrs. J. Bannister, John Zimmer, Warwick McKenzie, and Len MacCarthy.

MR. FRANK HUTCHENS.

Mr. Frank Hutchens will give the first of his two pianoforte recitals this season at the Conservatorium Hall on Monday evening, Nov. 4, at 8 o'clock. The programme will include works by Bach, Beethoven, and Brahms. Miss Violet Somerset will sing. The plan is at Paling's.

MADAME HENRI VERBRUGGHEN.

Madame Henri Verbrugghen will give two British Folk Song recitals at the Conservatorium Hall, on Tuesday, November 5, and Monday, November 11, at 8 p.m., with Miss Margaret Chalmers as pianist. The Hebridean Songs, also groups of English, Scottish, Welsh, and Irish Folk Songs will be rendered. The plans are at Paling's.

CROSSING THE BLUE MOUNTAINS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your issue of 26th instant, referring to the great work of William Charles Wentworth, it is stated:—"When barely out of his teens he led an expedition which placed him and his colleagues in a special niche in the temple of Australian exploration. The value of the discovery of a route over the Blue Mountains cannot be measured in miles or altitude." Great credit must be given to Wentworth for his splendid work, but he did not lead. "Honour to whom honour is due." Blaxland was asked by Governor Macquarie to endeavour to solve the Mountain difficulty. He worked out his scheme, undertook the task, and asked his neighbours, Lieutenant Lawson and Wentworth, to accompany him. Blaxland was the leader. In an account of the exploration he says:—"I have to express my thanks to Lawson and Wentworth for their company, and to acknowledge that without their assistance I should have had but little chance of success."

I am, etc.,

H. M. SUTTOR.

AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.

Since last Wednesday the south-eastern States have been occupied by a very extensive Antarctic disturbance, a crest of the great low pressure wave which normally operates over the Great Southern Ocean. In the earlier period of its appearance some scattered rains and thunderstorms occurred over southern and eastern districts, but on Sunday, having surged far northward, and coming into full co-operation with the warm to hot north-east winds on the rear side of the eastern "high," the culmination of dry, squally conditions was experienced. North-west to west winds of gale force (moderate to strong) with extremely low humidity resulted over the greater part of the State, but chiefly in central eastern areas, where the co-operation of the two influences ("high" and "low" pressure) was mostly in evidence. At Sydney the velocity of the wind attained 52 miles per hour. Over the south-east the chart is very similar in several of its main features to that of Saturday. But, with the centre of a small "high" over the ocean to the south-west of Adelaide, there is a prospect of some scattered rain in the south-east districts, and isolated thunderstorms in the north-east quarter. The predominating tendency, however, favours squally west to north-west winds over southern and south-east districts, to be followed by a rather cooler element from south-west temporarily. A feature of interest is the huge dimensions of another disturbance, combined monsoonal and Antarctic, which covers about half of Australia, within lines joining Wyndham, Charleville, Fowler's Bay, and Geraldton. The centre of this immense low pressure lies to the south of Albany. As it moves eastward, heat and sultriness should become prevalent, with squally north winds, probably followed by unsettled weather.

Ocean Forecast.—Squally and strong north-west to west winds over southern waters generally from south of the Leeuwin to New Zealand.

SPORTING.

THE TURF.

Our Denman correspondent telegraphs that an inquiry was instituted by the stipendiary steward acting at the local race meeting on Saturday into the running of Three Step in the Final Handicap, and, after lengthy consideration, C. Stephenson, who had the mount, was disqualified for 12 months for suspicious practices.

The fall of Tressady Maid in the Welter Handicap at Canterbury Park on Saturday formed the subject of inquiry by the A.J.C. stipendiary stewards yesterday, when they found that B. Foley on Mount 'Frisco crossed Tressady Maid, on whom A. Wood had the mount, but that it was probably not Foley's fault, and that the occurrence was accidental.

J. G. (Balmain).—The starting price of Cumber Lady in the Flying Handicap at the Goulburn Eight-hours' race meeting, on the 21st inst., was 10 to 1 against.

A. Wood, the rider of Tressady Maid, who came down in the Welter Handicap at Canterbury Park on Saturday, sustained a sprained wrist.

The Melbourne Cup discussion is very animated. The names of Finmark, Desert Gold, King's Bounty, Eusebius, and Lingle are frequently heard (wires our Melbourne correspondent). Arch Marella is again a most popular candidate; Kennaquhair, King Offa, and Finmark are calculated to provide his toughest opposition; Estland is not so popular, and Court Jester seems to have lost many admirers.

Inquirer (Concord West).—Millieme was not a starter in the St. Albans Handicap at Moonee Valley on Saturday.

H.M.G.B. (Glebe).—The starting price of Winacre in the Opening Handicap of the Bathurst Turf Club's meeting on October 12 should read 6 to 4 against.

Final forfeits for the Melbourne Cup fall due at 4 p.m. to-day, and all horses remaining in after that hour become liable for the full stake.

WRINKLES.

Wrinkles in general may depend upon an unnatural use of the muscles, but also upon a lack of their use, with the result that the muscles become flabby, sinking below their natural level, and allowing the skin to fall with them, thus causing hollows, furrows, and folds.

It is well known that exercise strengthens faculty, but care must be taken not to over-exert a muscle or a group of muscles. A muscle is built up by gentle, systematic massage, but can be rendered entirely useless by rough, unnatural manipulation. If you call I will demonstrate to you the right and the wrong methods.

SUPERFLUOUS HAIRS.
BE VERY CAREFUL ABOUT THE REMOVAL OF THESE BLEMISHES,
as it requires an experienced operator to do this work without scars or marks, and one who has a clear understanding of the skin and electricity.
SEVENTEEN YEARS I HAVE BEEN ESTABLISHED, and guarantee all my work. Come and have a chat, I will explain fully.
